Pastor Dan Burnum-Steggerda of Shelby Congregational United Church of Christ of Hart offered the following invocation:

Holy, holy holy, Lord God Almighty, God in three persons, blessed Trinity, we kneel before You as we lift this prayer to You.

In love, God, You create with justice and righteousness. Love incarnate, Jesus, You teach what justice and righteousness are. Presence of love, Holy Spirit, You inspire and You encourage justice and righteousness.

God, may You inspire these good people assembled here this morning with the mishpat and the tsedeqah—the justice and righteousness—of Your Old Testament prophets. They have answered Your call to service by responding as Isaiah did: “Here am I. Send me.” Continue, God, to lead them and guide them in the ways of Your justice and righteousness, Your mercy and peace, and, yes, Your love.

Jesus, may You inspire these good people assembled here this morning with compassion coupled with challenge, with discernment coupled with tolerance, and with accountability coupled with unconditional agape—love. Continue, Jesus, to call them, to lead them, and to remind them of their solemn oaths to serve people—people from all walks of life; people of all nationalities, races, religions, preferences, and economic levels; the people like those whom they serve.

Blessed Trinity, may You inspire these good people assembled here this morning with the confidence to do what they are called to do—what they are elected to do—to ensure that all Michiganders have the ability and access to justice and righteousness, the mercy and freedom, and the peace of love, that was given to us all at the inception of creation and has been fought for throughout the ages.

These are our prayers and hopes for today. May they be our realities forevermore. In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, we pray. Amen.

Senate Resolution No. 170.
A resolution to encourage the Michigan Agency for Energy to undertake a collaborative discussion with all interested stakeholders into the potential to integrate energy storage into Michigan’s electric market.

Whereas, Throughout the United States, hundreds of companies and thousands of American workers are building energy storage systems; and

Whereas, United States Senator Lisa Murowski (R-Alaska) chaired a hearing on October 3, 2017 to discuss the current and emerging energy storage technologies, underscoring the growing need for building a stronger more resilient grid following the hurricanes that impacted Texas, Louisiana, Florida, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands; and

Whereas, United States Senator Jeff Flake (R-Arizona) introduced Senate Bill 1455 on June 28, 2017 to amend the United States Energy Storage Act of 2007 in order to direct the Secretary of Energy to establish new goals for the Department of Energy relating to energy storage and to carry out certain demonstration projects related to energy storage; and

Whereas, On December 18, 2015, the United States Congress passed a provision in the Omnibus Appropriations Bill, extending the solar investment tax credit that includes energy storage paired with solar through 2021; and

Whereas, Several states, including California, Oregon, Maryland, Nevada, and Massachusetts have passed legislation encouraging the deployment of energy storage. North Carolina recently passed legislation on July 2, 2017 to study energy storage technology; and
Whereas, Public Act 342 of 2016 encourages “energy waste reduction” including load management to reduce provider cost, a policy that could potentially be augmented by energy storage technology; and

Whereas, It is critically important to Michigan’s electric market to understand how energy storage technologies may provide value to Michigan consumers based on factors including investment, value to the electric grid, impact on consumer rates and service quality, and factors related to deploying one or more of these technologies; and

Whereas, It is equally important to understand the feasibility of energy storage in Michigan, including services energy storage can provide that are not being performed currently, the economic potential or impact of energy storage deployment in Michigan, and the identification of existing policies and potential policy changes that may inform a statewide coordinated energy storage policy; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That we encourage the Michigan Agency for Energy to undertake a collaborative discussion with all interested stakeholders into the potential for integrating energy storage into Michigan’s electric market; and be it further

Resolved by the Senate, That any findings or recommendations discussed be transmitted to the Michigan House and Senate, and be made available to the public.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations,

Senator Kowall moved that the rule be suspended.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution,
