Senator Horn’s statement is as follows:
Today I rise to offer a common-sense amendment. As we look to relieve Michiganders of the burdensome fees that are so costly for our hardworking residents, we should be thorough and remove the additional $125 driver license reinstatement fee. The amendment simply says that Michiganders who get their driver responsibility fees waived are also able to regain their licenses and also get the additional $125 reinstatement fee waived. This would apply to anyone taking advantage of this offer by the end of the year.
I'd ask for your support to get Michiganders back on the road and back to work.

The question being on concurring in the substitute made to the bill by the House, Senator Knezek offered the following amendment to the substitute:

1. Amend page 22, following line 27, by inserting:

   “Sec. 51. (1) For receiving, earning, or otherwise acquiring income from any source whatsoever, there is levied and imposed under this part upon the taxable income of every person other than a corporation a tax at the following rates in the following circumstances:

   (a) On and after October 1, 2007 and before October 1, 2012, 4.35%.

   (b) Except as otherwise provided under subdivision (c), on and after October 1, 2012, 4.25%.

   (c) For each tax year beginning on and after January 1, 2023, if the percentage increase in the total general fund/general purpose revenue from the immediately preceding fiscal year is greater than the inflation rate for the same period and the inflation rate is positive, then the current rate shall be reduced by an amount determined by multiplying that rate by a fraction, the numerator of which is the difference between the total general fund/general purpose revenue from the immediately preceding state fiscal year and the capped general fund/general purpose revenue and the denominator of which is the total revenue collected from this part in the immediately preceding state fiscal year. For purposes of this subdivision only, the state treasurer, the director of the senate fiscal agency, and the director of the house fiscal agency shall determine whether the total revenue distributed to general fund/general purpose revenue has increased as required under this subdivision based on the comprehensive annual financial report prepared and published by the department of technology, management, and budget in accordance with section 23 of article IX of the state constitution of 1963. The state treasurer, the director of the senate fiscal agency, and the director of the house fiscal agency shall make the determination under this subdivision no later than the date of the January 2023 revenue estimating conference conducted pursuant to sections 367a through 367f of the management and budget act, 1984 PA 431, MCL 18.1367a to 18.1367f, and the date of each January revenue estimating conference conducted each year thereafter. As used in this subdivision:

   (i) “Capped general fund/general purpose revenue” means the total general fund/general purpose revenue from the 2020-2021 state fiscal year multiplied by the sum of 1 plus the product of 1.425 times the difference between a fraction, the numerator of which is the consumer price index for the state fiscal year ending in the tax year prior to the tax year for which the adjustment is being made and the denominator of which is the consumer price index for the 2020-2021 state fiscal year, and 1.

   (ii) “Total general fund/general purpose revenue” means the total general fund/general purpose revenue and other financing sources as published in the comprehensive annual financial report schedule of revenue and other financing sources – general fund for that fiscal year plus any distribution made pursuant to section 51d.
(2) Beginning January 1, 2000, that percentage of the gross collections before refunds from the tax levied under this section that is equal to 1.012% divided by the income tax rate levied under this section shall be deposited in the state school aid fund created in section 11 of article IX of the state constitution of 1963. IN ADDITION TO THE AMOUNT ALREADY DEPOSITED UNDER THIS SUBSECTION, AN AMOUNT EQUAL TO ALL REVENUE LOST TO THE STATE SCHOOL AID FUND UNDER THIS PART AS A RESULT OF THE CHANGES IMPLEMENTED FOR PERSONAL AND DEPENDENCY EXEMPTIONS IN SECTIONS 30 AND 30A BY THE AMENDATORY ACT THAT ADDED THIS SENTENCE, AS DETERMINED BY THE DEPARTMENT, SHALL BE DEPOSITED IN THE STATE SCHOOL AID FUND CREATED IN SECTION 11 OF ARTICLE IX OF THE STATE CONSTITUTION OF 1963.

(3) In addition to the distribution under subsection (2) and section 51d, beginning October 1, 2016, from the revenue collected under this section an amount equal to 3.5% of the average amount of farmland tax credits claimed under section 36109 of the natural resources and environmental protection act, 1994 PA 451, MCL 324.36109, for the immediately preceding 3 state fiscal years shall be deposited into the agricultural preservation fund created in section 36202 of the natural resources and environmental protection act, 1994 PA 451, MCL 324.36202.

(4) The department shall annualize rates provided in subsection (1) as necessary. The applicable annualized rate shall be imposed upon the taxable income of every person other than a corporation for those tax years.

(5) The taxable income of a nonresident shall be computed in the same manner that the taxable income of a resident is computed, subject to the allocation and apportionment provisions of this part.

(6) A resident beneficiary of a trust whose taxable income includes all or part of an accumulation distribution by a trust, as defined in section 665 of the internal revenue code, shall be allowed a credit against the tax otherwise due under this part. The credit shall be all or a proportionate part of any tax paid by the trust under this part for any preceding taxable year that would not have been payable if the trust had in fact made distribution to its beneficiaries at the times and in the amounts specified in section 666 of the internal revenue code. The credit shall not reduce the tax otherwise due from the beneficiary to an amount less than would have been due if the accumulation distribution were excluded from taxable income.

(7) The taxable income of a resident who is required to include income from a trust in his or her federal income tax return under the provisions of 26 USC 671 to 679, shall include items of income and deductions from the trust in taxable income to the extent required by this part with respect to property owned outright.

(8) It is the intention of this section that the income subject to tax of every person other than corporations shall be computed in like manner and be the same as provided in the internal revenue code subject to adjustments specifically provided for in this part.

(9) As used in this section:

- (a) “Consumer price index” means the United States consumer price index for all urban consumers as defined and reported by the United States Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics.
- (b) “Inflation rate” means the annual percentage change in the consumer price index, as determined by the department, comparing the 2 most recent completed state fiscal years.

Statements

Senators Bieda and Johnson asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.
The motion prevailed.
Senator Bieda’s statement is as follows:
Today, we celebrate Ash Wednesday—it’s a Christian day of peace and the first day of Lent, which is six weeks of repentance before Easter. Ash Wednesday is observed in some churches and it derives its name from the placing of repentance ashes on the foreheads of participants with the words “repent and believe in the Gospel” or the dictum “remember that you are dust, and to dust you shall return.” Today is also Valentine’s Day. Perhaps more universally celebrated, I’d like to wish each of you a very happy Valentine’s Day.
More than that, today is a very special day in my family; in particular, it’s my father’s birthday today and he turns 85 years old. My father, as most your parents have had an instrumental part of your life, is just a great individual in my life and our family. Both my father and mother have been very fortunate to have such great parents. My dad served in the Air Force during the Korean War and he went to college on the G.I. Bill. He started a career in the auto industry, first working for Chrysler—he was at the Chrysler Missile Plant—and then, after that, he started working for General Motors. He spent most of his career at General Motors and he’s been retired for a number of years now, but he’s very active in the community. I suspect right now he’s probably left the coffee shop—he usually hangs out with some of his veteran buddies. I know my mom and dad appreciate my service to the state and I’d also appreciate if you’d join me in wishing my father a very happy birthday. My mom’s birthday was in August; I never get to make an address on her birthday because we’re never in session. I’m very fortunate to have such great parents and I wanted to commend my dad on his birthday today.

I know earlier today we commended some of our individuals who have had a number of years of service, and Jerry Gill in my office celebrated not quite 85 years here, although he says sometimes it feels like that, but he celebrated his 40th anniversary working for the state Senate. I want you all to join me in wishing my father a happy birthday and Jerry Gill a happy anniversary for 40 years in the Senate, as well as anniversary dates of all those individuals who we previously recognized today.

Senator Johnson’s statement is as follows:

I didn’t think I would be rising to talk to you today about this. I appreciate the opportunity to talk about a gentleman who we lost yesterday, Officer Darren Weathers, who some of you may recall meeting when he participated in one of our very memorable Memorial Day events about three years ago—I think it was 2015 when he was here. For those of you who met Darren—who succumbed to his injuries yesterday after a horrific accident in the city of Detroit while on duty—you might not really understand how happy he was to be here. He couldn’t really believe it. I kind of marveled at it. It was cute to me. He was exceedingly happy to be here on this floor, and he was trying in his young mind—I think he was 22 at the time, he was 25 at the time of his death yesterday—he was trying to connect how his having served in the Army brought him to being on the Michigan Senate floor. He was excited to be here.

Young people who demonstrate so much promise, who we have so much hope inside of, I think we all try to see ourselves inside that person. I did. I was proud of Darren, not just because he was my brother-in-law, but because he was a fine, fine kid. Many of you know that when I was a kid—I was 19—I got in trouble. I carry a bit of a torch for young people who do everything that they are asked to do—stay away from trouble, make good decisions, do something with their lives, and come out on the other end greater for it. We hold him up as an example. He was kind, he was funny, he was smart, he loved Detroit, he loved this country, and he loved his family.

Yesterday, when I looked at him after he got in this accident, I couldn’t make it make sense that I was looking at this young, handsome, fit, dead body. The lessons are for the living. That just means to me that we have to look at how people have lived, especially when there is virtue, and try to make something of our living arrangement going forward.

A number of us in this chamber have experienced the tragedy of death. We all talk about it and we try to put our arms around each other. I want to thank the members of this body and the staff of this body for saying nice things to me today. I hope that we don’t just remember Darren, the guy who was in the military. I hope we don’t just remember the guy who was a cop. I hope that we remember the human being who just gave a damn. This political thing that we do every day, it’s a job, it’s a passion, it’s a pursuit, but it’s not real life. Real life is the thing that we saw happen yesterday that affects so many people.

I want to ask you all to hold his family, his brothers and his sisters, and his baby girl who was in route to see him here in Detroit when this accident occurred. I want to ask you to keep them in your memory and keep them in your prayers. They’re going to need it.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of Detroit Police Officer Darren Weathers.
