Pastor Zane Abberger of Lakeview Baptist Church of Lakeview offered the following invocation:

Dear Heavenly Father, we come to You today on behalf of the men and women who sit in these chambers and govern the affairs of this state. We thank You for each of them and we ask that Your watchcare would be over their families, as many sacrifice precious time away from them to perform their duties in Lansing. We ask that You give to them strength to perform the arduous and patience to endure the tedious. We believe that You have brought them here for such a time as this. Grant to them wisdom to see the right, courage to follow the truth, and faith to recognize your presence here today. Lord, we would also ask that you assure them of your promise—the heart of the king is in the hand of the Lord—for there is no better place to be.

May all praise and glory be to Your precious Son, Jesus Christ, for it is in His name we pray. Amen.

Senator MacGregor moved to reconsider the vote by which the House substitute was concurred in.
The question being on the motion to reconsider,
Senator MacGregor withdrew the motion.

Senator Shirkey asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.
The motion prevailed.
Senator Shirkey’s statement is as follows:
I’d like to ask my colleagues and staff on the Senate floor to join me in a special time of appreciation and tribute to somebody who has served us all well in the Senate for this term and a long time before.
I’ve got this tribute here in front of me. I had the opportunity to read through it a couple of days ago. It is very impressive. I would suggest that you should all find an opportunity to read through it. Though it’s really not surprising that Craig has such an interesting, comprehensive, and diverse background, which goes a long ways to explain why he is and has been so effective at every position he has served in.
But this won’t surprise you either—I am not going to read it. It is too good to simply read. It needs to be absorbed, contemplated, read, and re-read by you, Craig, his family, and friends. The guy described in this tribute could lead one to ask “Who is this guy?”
Well, I’m glad you asked. I will do my best to add some color to this wonderfully-composed tribute by using some of my most favorite ‘F’ words.

First, when I think of Craig Ryan, I think of family. Seldom have we, he and I, had a discussion where family didn’t somehow make its way into the conversation. Craig—and Telly—are nothing if they aren’t totally and fully committed to their family. This world would be a different and much better place if every kid had the privilege of being raised in a Craig and Telly Ryan household. They don’t just love their kids; they love them enough to discipline them with the unlimited, unconditional love they have. And Telly, we all know where the real source of strength is in families such as this, and we’re grateful to you for how you supported Craig throughout his career here, and how you set such a high standard of loving, running, building, and nurturing a family. Thank you for being here this morning.

No one who really knows Craig can begin to describe him without using another ‘F’ word—faith. Again, seldom have we had a serious conversation that faith didn’t enter into the mix. Craig’s faith permeates from every pore of his being, especially for those fortunate enough to work closely with him. Even as recent as last night, he played an active role in bringing a friend and co-worker to the Lord and participated in his baptism and public confession of faith. We all know in this environment we are privileged to serve in, that to remain steady and faithful, avoiding the seduction and temptations of working in high levels of public service is a challenge. Craig sets a high standard. His love and faith in the subject of this holiday season—Jesus Christ—is a cornerstone of his very being.

And then, closely associated with his faith, Craig has shown many of us what fearless means—another favorite ‘F’ word. We have watched with wonder and awe how he and Telly have witnessed to all of us how their faith has led them through the uncertainty of taking on a seriously-discouraging diagnosis of cancer, and facing it head on. Frankly, and I know my opinion matters not in this area, I think he was a pretty good-looking stud when he had no hair. Technology has proven wonderful in the perpetual battle with cancer, but nothing matches the fearlessness of someone who has hope and deeply-rooted faith. And Emma, Lily, Jack, and Harrison—you should be very proud of your dad.

Finally—and that’s not my last ‘F’ word—but finally, the ‘F’ word label that I will forever associate with Craig is fun-governor. Every single time I’ve advocated for an outside-the-norm action, Craig was the first to tell me, sometimes in very creative ways, that my ideas were nuts. Sometimes he would simply look at me with that “that’s a stupid idea” look that he could muster without effort. Other times, he would ask a simple question like, “Do you really want to destroy your career that quickly?” And when I suggested something that I was completely sold out on—that he knew would be a huge failure and risk to the entire organization—he would pause for a longer-than-normal moment and then say, “I quit.” Thankfully he never quit; he just prevailed.

Until now, when an unplanned opportunity presented itself that made sense for him, for his career, for his family, and, I am convinced, will continue to accrue to the benefit of Michigan. Craig, may God continue to bless you and everything and everyone you touch, like you have me and many of us in this Chamber. Go forth and marvelously prosper, my friend.

Protest

Senator McBroom, under his constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18) protested against the passage of House Bill Nos. 4916, 4917, and 4918 and moved that the statement he made during discussion of House Bill No. 4916 be printed as his reasons for voting “no.”

The motion prevailed.

Senator McBroom’s statement is as follows:

I’d like to share with you my explanation for voting “no” on this package of bills. Humans—both adult and children, and I have plenty of children to observe this in—have a real tendency to chafe against rules, particularly where the harm that would come from disobeying those rules is not immediately obvious to us or where the consequences to a certain action seem like they could be easily avoided. In a society like ours that has disconnected itself from moral moorings, we are constantly pushing the boundaries of social mores. Marijuana gets legalized, harder drugs get legalized, we legalize risky behaviors, we glorify alcohol, and many other hurts to society are lauded as having the virtue of freedom for each of us personally while ignoring the resulting slavery on all of our society.

The addiction to money is not just symptomatic to the gambling addict but is symptomatic to the state itself. The state of Michigan is addicted to people’s money. This progress as we so call it of giving more personalized freedom to do things that are traditionally vices always proceeds from the lesser to the greater—state lotteries cite specific games, cite specific casinos, charitable gaming, online gaming, all online games, now sports betting. These are the same trends that follow in substance abuses and other moral questions. All of these items prey on the most vulnerable in our society by promising something for nothing. They appeal to the basest of human instincts to avoid work and get your bread without any sweat. The purpose of legalized and organized gambling is the industrialized, mass extraction of people’s money. While we portray it as entertainment—like your office pool or the Tuesday night poker game—the business of gambling does everything it can to take the largest possible legal amount of money from every user it can. It’s not like going to Disney World which gives you what you pay for. Instead, it takes, it takes, and it takes with the illusion of a payout that we all know is both technically and statistically unlikely to ever happen. It’s not true.

People aren’t going to win; people are going to lose. The house—and in lotteries, the state—always wins because that’s the goal. Now, with organized sports betting, the expansion of gaming in this state is a huge step in furthering the harm that comes from organized gambling and what it does to our society. Therefore, I oppose this package of this legislation.

Recess

Senator MacGregor moved that the Senate recess until 1:15 p.m.
The motion prevailed, the time being 12:33 p.m.

The Senate reconvened at the expiration of the recess and was called to order by the President pro tempore, Senator Nesbitt.

Pursuant to rule 3.506, Senator Barrett submitted a statement in writing for inclusion in today’s Journal. Senator Barrett’s statement is as follows:

It’s kind of a bittersweet moment in my office. Alec Faggion, who’s worked for me for the last year in my office, is departing for an opportunity in Washington, D.C., something that he’s really going to do a tremendous job at. Alec originally worked for me on my campaign, was my campaign manager last year in our election, and really did an impressive job. In fact, he’s my only campaign manager that didn’t crash my car into something, which is a really important thing that I deeply appreciate.

Certainly with all the difficulty that comes with a campaign and the challenges that we face and everything else, he kept a cool and calm demeanor the whole time, was professional throughout the entire process, and certainly got to become a trusted friend of myself and my family. My five-year-old daughter still has a crush on him. All of us in the Barrett brigade are very thankful for that. In fact, in last year’s election, the top of the ticket in my district actually went for the opposing party, but we were still able to win in my district, certainly with the help that Alec brought to the team, and we’re thankful for that. This year he served as my district director in my office and has done a tremendous job representing me in my absence when we’ve been here in Lansing for different events throughout our district. I wanted to recognize him today for all of his service, and have this seal that is signed by all of you to commemorate his time and service here in the Senate.

Recess

Senator MacGregor moved that the Senate recess subject to the call of the Chair.
