Motions and Resolutions

Reps. Cameron Brown, Vander Roest, Vear, Kooiman, Allen, Stewart, Mead, Van Woerkom, Mortimer, Gosselin, Pappageorge, Caul and Stamas offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 140.

A resolution to memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation to provide more flexibility to refineries making the transition to reformulated gasoline fuels for use during the summer months.

Whereas, Unstable fuel prices bring many hardships to businesses, individuals, and the entire economy. Last summer's spike in gasoline costs, which was made more severe by a gasoline pipeline accident, generated great concern. The price rise also focused attention on the negative impact of federal government policies. The experience of the summer of 2000 showed the harm to pump prices caused by the change to reformulated gasoline used during the summer months; and

Whereas, Certain areas of the country must use reformulated gasoline in the summer. Switching refinery operations to these reformulated gasoline fuels takes longer than it has in the past. Because two of the largest markets in this region, Milwaukee and Chicago, must use the reformulated fuels, the fuel production for the entire Midwest region of the country is affected. The length and severity of the winter of 2000-2001 in the Midwest has already delayed the transition period that refineries need to make the switch between producing winter fuel oil to the larger volume of gasoline needed for the higher demands of the summer season; and

Whereas, There are approximately 15 different formulas for gasoline that are produced throughout the country in response to EPA mandates. The large variety of formulas make the Midwest particularly susceptible to energy supply shocks. Michigan, because of its location, is hardest hit by low gasoline supply; and

Whereas, Because of the shortage of gasoline, especially at the beginning of the summer, all possible means of reducing costs should be explored. Certainly, greater flexibility for the process of shifting to reformulated gasoline in the summer months would bring a measure of relief. A few weeks difference in the transition would be a reasonable and effective step to take; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation to provide more flexibility to refineries making the transition to reformulated gasoline fuels for use during the summer months; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Transportation.
