

Senate Bill 251 (as introduced 3-9-11)

Sponsor: Senator Mike Nofs

Committee: Banking and Financial Institutions

Date Completed: 5-3-11

CONTENT

The bill would amend the Code of Criminal Procedure to provide for a 10-year statute of limitations for false pretenses involving real property, mortgage fraud, or forgery or uttering and publishing of an instrument affecting an interest in real property.

Specifically, an indictment for one of those offenses could be found and filed within 10 years after the offense was committed or within 10 years after the instrument affecting real property was recorded, whichever occurred later.

Under the Code, except as provided for specific offenses, the statute of limitations for a crime is six years after the offense is committed.

FISCAL IMPACT

The bill would have an indeterminate fiscal impact on State and local government. There are no data to indicate how many additional indictments would be filed as a result of expanding the statute of limitations from six years to 10 years. Any increase in felony convictions that resulted from the extension of the statute of limitations could increase State and local costs by increasing incarceration and community supervision costs.
