(a) "Competency-based education" and "competency-based instructional model" mean an approach to teaching and pupil learning where pupils are evaluated on individual competencies, and only when they master them, they move on to more advanced competencies. For the purposes of this article, competency-based instructional programs must meet at least all of the following:

(ii) Includes an innovative partnership with employers or postsecondary institutions, or both, as appropriate, to provide contextualized learning opportunities that emphasize attainment of competencies that include application and creation of knowledge along with the development of work-ready skills.

(iii) Includes the use of multiple and innovative methods to determine pupil achievement of competencies in a subject area or combined subject areas such as public presentations, submission of research papers, attaining marketable workforce credentials, and mentoring other pupils.

(b) "Credential" means proof of competency in a high-demand, high-salary, and high-upward mobility field or any other designation determined to be in high demand. A credential must be stackable, which means that it can lead to a more advanced recognized credential. A high school diploma is not a credential.

(c) "High-demand field" means professional trades, manufacturing, engineering, information technology and computer science, machine learning and artificial intelligence, mobility, health care, and business.

(d) "Talent agreement" means, subject to subsection (2), an agreement that is signed by the members of a talent consortium and is approved by the department of talent and economic development and the department. A talent agreement must include at least all of the following:

(i) A description of how the members will create a seamless, competency-based education model that results in pupils acquiring high-demand skills and credentials.

(ii) A formalized process by which the talent consortium will periodically review and update employer needs and which skills and credentials are in demand, including, but not limited to, a 2-, 5-, and 20-year talent skills projection.

(iii) A detailed plan on how curriculum and instruction will be changed to address the changing employer and talent skills needs.

(iv) If a postsecondary institution is a member of a talent consortium, how the postsecondary institution will reduce barriers as pupils transition through phases of their education from K-12 education to postsecondary education and into the workforce. These efforts may include, but are not limited to, the following:

(A) Dual enrollment practices.

(B) The acceptance of talent portfolios for college admissions.

(C) Work-based learning and internships.

(D) The creation of career pathways beginning in middle school and high school.

(E) In-classroom mentoring or career counseling.

(F) Prehiring agreements in which employers promise to hire graduates of a program.

(v) How any grant dollars received will further the goals of the consortium.

(vi) How members will continue to collaborate after a grant is awarded.

(e) "Talent consortium" means a consortium of entities that enter into a talent agreement for the purposes of funding under this article. A talent consortium must include at least 1 district or intermediate district and at least 2 employers or organizations representing employers. However, a talent consortium with only 1 district that is a tier 3 district is not required to include more than 1 employer or organization representing employers. A talent consortium may include a private training provider that grants degrees or certificates and is located in this state, community colleges, colleges, or universities. A talent consortium is not bound by size or geographic locations in this state.

(f) "Tier 1 district" means a district with a pupil membership in 2017-2018 of at least 3,800.

(g) "Tier 2 district" means a district with a pupil membership in 2017-2018 of at least 1,400 but less than 3,800.

(h) "Tier 3 district" means a district with a pupil membership in 2017-2018 of less than 1,400.

(2) If a national organization or company with expertise in the talent needs or education programs addressed by a talent agreement submits a letter of support for the grant application in lieu of signing the talent agreement, and that letter of support outlines how the organization or company will support the work of the talent consortium, then the organization or company is considered to be a contributing partner of that...
talent consortium without signing the talent agreement.

(c) 20% to tier 3 districts.

(2) If a district from 1 tier applies for a grant with 1 or more other districts in a combined application, or if an intermediate district submits a grant application on behalf of more than 1 of its constituent districts, and the combined application results in a district from 1 tier receiving a grant award that is higher than if a combined application had not been submitted, the portion of the grant award that exceeds what the district would have received in the absence of a combined application must be applied to the tier percentages under subsection (1) in the same proportion that the pupil membership of that district represents of the total pupil memberships in the combined grant application.
