Rep. Ed McBroom, from the 108th District, offered the following invocation:

“Dear Father, we thank You that this morning You brought us here together to continue in our solemn duty to this state. We thank You for the opportunity bestowed on us by the citizens and for the opportunity to live out the principles of loving our neighbor as ourselves.

Father, we pray for mercy on those who are still traveling and we pray that You will watch over them on the roads due to the bad weather. Father, help us in these final days, so this legislature to truly work together for the best interests of the people of the state of Michigan. We pray this in Jesus’ name.

Amen.”

Motions and Resolutions

The Speaker, on behalf of the entire membership of the House of Representatives, offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 395.

A resolution of tribute for the Honorable Bradford C. Jacobsen.

Whereas, It is with great admiration for his commitment to the people of the Forty-sixth District, as well as the entire state, that we honor Representative Bradford Jacobsen as he ends his tenure of service as a member of this legislative body; and

Whereas, Bradford Jacobsen earned his bachelor’s degree in social economic policy at Michigan State University and served as vice president of his family business, Jacobsen’s Flowers. He has been involved in his community as chair of the Lake Orion Downtown Development Authority and as a member of the Oxford Rotary, Elks Club, Eagles Club, and the Oxford Emergency Safety Authority. He also served as a trustee in Oxford Township and an Oakland County commissioner; and

Whereas, Representative Jacobsen’s knowledge and experience in business, economics, and local government have been invaluable. He has served as the chair of the Communications and Technology and the Government Operations committees, vice chair of the Oversight, Reform, and Ethics Committee, and as a member of the Education, Elections, Energy Policy, Judiciary, and Transportation and Infrastructure committees. He has been especially active in the effort to modernize the handling of the worker’s compensation system in the state. His work in the House has been deeply appreciated by his colleagues and staff members; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we offer this expression of tribute to commend and thank the Honorable Bradford C. Jacobsen for his notable contributions to this legislative body and to our entire state; and be it further

It was fitting that the citizens of the Eleventh District sent her to Lansing to finish her late mother's term in office; and

Whereas, Jim Townsend joined the Legislature in 2011, bringing with him a wealth of public service and private sector experience. A graduate of the University of North Carolina and University of Michigan, he served as the executive director of the Tourism Economic Development Council, founded the Michigan Suburbs Alliance, and established his own strategic marketing and economic consulting firm; and

Whereas, In his three terms as a state representative, Representative Townsend has been a strong advocate for Michigan's workers and families. Pursuing solutions to the state's economic woes, he has championed economic development initiatives, like the Regional Transit Authority for southeast Michigan. He was also instrumental in protecting the Detroit Institute of Arts and Detroit Zoo special assessments from tax increment finance authorities. A resolution to declare December 13, 2016, as Horse Day in the state of Michigan.

Whereas, The state of Michigan recognizes the role of equines in the economy, history, and character of Michigan, which can be traced back to when our forefathers used horses to build our great state, transport people and goods, clear and till the land, harvest and thresh grains, herd cattle, power mills, serve in the military, fight fires, and deliver mail; and

Comments and Recommendations

Rep. Nesbitt moved that the following remarks be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Rep. Poleski:

“My message today is one of gratitude.

Memories

- a) Commissioning of USS Detroit
- b) Tour the Michigan Central Rail Station in Detroit
- c) Visiting the Governor’s residence on Mackinac Island
- d) Presidential debate
- e) Shooting on the Jackson County Sheriff’s firearms’ range
- f) Several prison and mental health facilities’ tours
- g) Dome tour with Matt from the tour office.
- h) Visits to Bay City (Charlie Brunner’s turf) with our boat. Charlie was kind enough to get us tickets to Tall Ships this past summer. He delivered them to our boat – and by the time we finished our visit, my supply of limes was significantly depleted. Thank you Charlie.
- i) Singing in the rotunda and in caucus, and with my friend Mike Shirkey in various places around our district, including his church and mine.
- j) Many visits to the capitol by school groups
- k) Business tours
 - i) Walkerville
 - ii) Power plants
 - iii) Distribution centers
 - iv) Those local businesses that depend upon us to provide a structure in our State where they can hire people, make a profit and keep it.

I am gratified to be able to take humble pride in our achievements over six years.

We repealed a poorly conceived business tax and replaced it with a corporate income tax that aligns the interest of the State with that of business – when business profits, so does the State.

Our budgeting process is now disciplined, predictable and timely.

Detroit is such an important part of our State, and my family has long ties there. My grandmother practiced law there in the 30s and 40s; my grandfather taught 50,000 Detroit residents how to swim at the Detroit YMCA. My mother grew up on the northwest side. Our work to settle the Detroit bankruptcy quickly and with fiscal discipline is something I'm particularly proud of, and that will benefit both the City and our State for many years.

We have reduced our taxpayers' exposure to unfunded liabilities. More work is necessary – study the problem well and take it on in the next term. The fix will not be easy – there is no magic bullet.

I am proud of our work to make employment law around the state reliably consistent. My bill toward this end was dubbed the "Death Star" bill. Again, when we make the rules consistent and predictable, we make investment and hiring decisions easier.

There are things I'm not so very proud of. One of them is silly resolutions. The public wonders what we're doing here when they hear about things like "Talk Like A Pirate Day". Vote ye not for such as that, ye lubbers.

Bills with poor policy are more problematic than silly resolutions. Like all of us, I voted to exempt 100% disabled veterans from property taxes on their principal residences. It is clear we did not understand the definition of a 100% disabled veteran, or the scope of the exemptions we would be allowing. It was a bad move.

My amateur politician's advice: If you're not sure of what a bill does, don't vote for it.

Another amateur opinion: Although I voted for them years ago, there must be a change to term limits in Michigan. They only serve to impair the power of the people in the form of their elected representatives. No one else, especially lobbyists and bureaucrats, has their hands tied in such a way.

I will remember some iconic items from my years in the House.

- Ed McBroom's French Horn, and his Cheese.
- Margaret O'Brian's cookie jar.
- The piano and hymnals in the Rotunda.
- Pat Somerville's M&Ms jar
- Roger Victory's rutabagas or whatever they are
- The pencil that the Clerks use to call for Immediate Effect. Nobody uses pencils anymore for anything else, it seems.
- Mike Callton's harmonicas, and especially his guitar.
- Ken Yonker's glasses and..... his Rolodex.

It has been said that if you want a friend in the Capitol, get a dog. Perhaps I'm naïve, but I think that saying does not hold here in Lansing. I have made many wonderful, and, I believe, lifelong friends here whose prime interest is in the success of our State and its residents.

- I won't hear a Frank Sinatra song in the future without remembering Chris Afendoulis.
- I recall in our first term when Tony Forlini and I were on the General Government appropriations subcommittee, and MEDC presented a new Pure Michigan ad that seemed calculated to reduce tough guys like us to blubbering fools as we saw our beautiful State and heard the now-familiar tune. They calculated correctly.
- Every time Donald Trump speaks, I will think how well Kurt Heise imitates him. He's AMAZING.
- And speaking of imitations, there is no one who does Curly Howard better than Al Pscholka. Whenever I see a Three Stooges short, I will think fondly of him. He has been a brilliant Appropriations Chair, and I'm sure he did a better job than anyone else here would have.
- When I have my septic tank pumped, I will think of the man who is the self-described Number 1 in Number 2, Ken Goike. What a genuine guy.
- In Jackson County, I will hope that future elected officials work as well together as Mike Shirkey and I have done, and as Brett Roberts and I do now.
- I appreciate my CPA colleagues – Tom McMillin, Martin Howrylak, Paul Clemente and Chris Afendoulis, as well as the unwavering support of the professionals at the Michigan Association of CPAs.
- I will remember, and none of us should forget, the hard work Kevin Elsenheimer, Brian Calley, Jase Bolger and others did to forge our majority and, more importantly, did the difficult work of reinventing Michigan in partnership with our friends in the Senate and in the Governor's office.

Each of us knows that our families are indispensable to us in getting and staying elected, and in keeping what little sanity we possess while in office.

Our family lived in the DC area during the 60s and 70s, and my dad was an FBI agent there. I would hear story after story about corrupt and/or inept politicians, and politics was not something I even considered for many years. When I considered a run for the Jackson County Commission, I carefully suggested the possibility to my folks, wary of what their view might be of a politician in a family of law enforcement. They were enthusiastic and offered their approval and worked very hard in each of my elections. I am so thankful for them.

I got into politics because I thought I could make a difference, and because we had two sons who had graduated from Michigan universities, neither of whom was working in this State in his chosen field of study. We also had no daughters-in-law, and no grandchildren. Now, we do have a daughter-in-law, and two beautiful grandkids, Isla and Isaac. I hope we continue to make Michigan a place where they can grow up and live and prosper.

Our many friends in Jackson have been so gracious to Candy and me the entire time, and express their thanks for our public service. That has been a little surprising – because we often hear the bad things about politicians. The encouragement of my constituents has been so helpful.

It is a source of wonder to come to know some of the 90,000 people in a House district. I count myself lucky to have met a number of veterans:

- those who were at Pearl Harbor,
- those who made the Bataan Death March,
- who were shot out of a B-17 over Germany,
- who slogged through the sands of Iwo Jima,
- stood guard in Japan,
- and kept the Korean peninsula from being overrun.
- Those who answered our country's call in Vietnam and in the Middle East.
- Those who have kept watch in the air, on land and sea, and who keep watch even today, ever vigilant to defend our freedoms.

I remember last Flag Day, when Senator Shirkey and I attended a ceremony at the Cascades in Jackson being put on by the local Marine Corps League chapter. I saw a very senior veteran there, clearly from the WWII era, who was proudly wearing the dress blue uniform of a Corporal of Marines. I remarked to the League Commander how well the old fellow's uniform fit, and its excellent condition after what I assumed were many years in the closet.

The Commander told me it wasn't his old uniform; it is a brand new uniform which the old Marine intends to wear when he is finally posted to guard the streets of heaven.

What a privilege to meet him and his fellow servicemen and women.

The House staff, in the policy offices, the House Fiscal Agency, the Clerk's office, the Business Office and the Sergeant's staff are top quality people and it is a pleasure to know you and to work with you.

I have had excellent staff over my tenure in the House. My current staff, Maria Ostrander and Molly Kaufmann, are selfless public servants and excellent citizens. They have made me look better than I deserve, and they solved problems before I even knew they existed. I know they will both do very well in the future.

My greatest thanks and appreciation must go to my wife Candy. Our spouses must endure many of the difficulties that we must, and without much of the glory. At work, at Consumers Energy, she got many questions about my positions; she carries a stack of my business cards and invites her co-workers to contact me directly.

She has worked very hard for my success, and we have had great experiences together. Thank you.

Thank you Mr. Speaker for this opportunity to address this body for perhaps my last time. It is only one of the many, many privileges that membership in the House grants us, and I am personally grateful for my time serving here and for knowing everyone here. I wish God's blessing upon you, our country and upon the citizens of our magnificent State. I bid you not goodbye, but au revoir, until our paths meet again."

Rep. Lauren Plawecki:

"Well, that was fast! Over the last few weeks, I've been given information on bills, studied them, and voted for or against them in that same hour. I received office supplies and stationery the same week as a memo detailing how to clear out my office and turn in my laptop. I've laughed, cried, had early mornings and late nights, felt five years old and fifty-five years old, and met more people than I could possibly count. It's been quite a ride.

In April, two months before my mom passed, I spent a day with her at work. I was in between internships at art museums, and thought it would be fun to tour the life of a politician. I had the opportunity to check out her office, watch her run from meeting to meeting, meet the sergeants, and sit on the floor with her while she voted. I met her incredibly talented legislative staff, Joe and Kat. I met her seatmates, Representatives Hoadley and LaGrand, who explained the magic of the cheat sheet to me. I also met Representative Love, who told me of her own meandering path towards politics and warned me not to rule anything out.

I couldn't have imagined that less than a year later I'd be back here in my mom's chair voting in her place and giving her farewell speech to this chamber. A fellow legislator told me that my presence here is bittersweet. I couldn't agree more. Obviously I wish that my mom was the one here voting and eating all of your holiday treats, but being here to finish her work is the best consolation I could have asked for.

This has been a whirlwind experience, one that I have been blessed and honored to have. I need to thank the progressive women's caucus, who are some of the most brilliant and inspiring people I've ever known— my mom was lucky to work with you. I want to thank Jaime Reimers, whose patience with me has been unending; Gary Randall, who helped me feel at home from the first day of orientation; and all the sergeants, who are some of the kindest people in Lansing. Most of all I need to thank Joe Sullivan, who has kept District 11 running and without whom I would be utterly lost. Any of my accomplishments are thanks to his dedication and expertise. And finally, I want to thank my family: my dad Mark and my sisters, Rachel and Monica, who believed a 22-year old art history major could do this job well. Thank you all for your kindness, prayers, and patience over the past few months. My term was short, but my gratitude will last a lifetime.

In closing, I want to get serious for a minute and deliver a message to the incoming 99th legislature. I've heard many of my colleagues speak about making sure their children and the 'young talent' don't have to leave Michigan to find jobs. Being a recent college graduate, I know that young talent. I understand their struggle to navigate Michigan's economy. I spent the past year outside of Michigan because that's where the opportunities were. But our state needs to do more than ensure meaningful jobs to keep the young talent in Michigan. In the past three weeks, I've seen legislation passed that kicks so many problems down the road for people my age to fix later on. It's easy to pass laws while we're here that provide short term pseudo-solutions, but don't be shocked when the young talent leaves as a result. I love Michigan, my family loves Michigan, but protecting the interests of big corporations and the wealthy has skewed this legislature's priorities and left many vulnerable people out to dry.

Do better. Make Michigan a place young people want to move to instead of a place we have to move from. Make it a place that values clean water for all and good public education for current and future generations. Make it a place that welcomes all types of people from all types of places. Make it a place where we can work on the problems of tomorrow, instead of defending the ways of the past. Give us a state we can depend on for longer than the two to six years of your term. That was my approach during my few weeks here in Lansing.

Thank you for the opportunity to speak today. Thank you all for welcoming another Plawecki woman into the 98th legislature, and for making this House a home for my family."

By unanimous consent the House returned to the order of

Comments and Recommendations

Rep. Talabi:

"Good afternoon. I want to first begin by thanking my heavenly father for the time he is allowed me to serve as a member of the 110th Michigan legislature, representing the 2nd District also the 3 years I served as a Wayne County

Commissioner and 16 years of service on the Detroit City Council. I would like to believe in each position I did something to make life better for those I was honored to represent.

When I arrived here 6 years ago, I didn't know any of you and now six years later not much has changed.

It is been somewhat of a tumultuous time for me, as many in this chamber decided early on to be guided by news stories that never really panned out. So much for judge ye not.....

Nonetheless, I've often wondered how many times we've missed opportunities. Opportunities to truly move our state forward and opportunities to unite and not divide. Undoubtedly time will tell the true story of this current legislature.

My husband Chief Bamidele Ade Talabi is my prayer partner and best friend. He is quick to tell me a tree does not make a forest and therefore I want to honor and thank my late parents Willie George and Mary Louise Tinsley for their love and belief in all 8 of their children. My father work 8 days a week at his Gulf Gas Station on Hazelwood and Third, while my mother raised the 8 of us. I am reminded however of a story my mother shared about she and her sisters walking down East Jefferson and applying for jobs while they were young. None of them were hired. Yet I've read similar stories of white females walking in the group and all hired on the same day with the same employer.

I want to thank my late siblings Mary Ruth, William, and Stanley, and my remaining siblings Vivian, former representative Artina Tinsley-Hardman, Lonnie and Daisy. We were raised as a strong bond and we remain committed to one another today.

My wonderful, beautiful, smart, articulate phenomenal daughter Carla Louise and my gifted son in love Richard Todd Smith thank you for choosing Detroit as home in fact they live only 1 block away....

Soon many of us will return to our districts some of us will be counting the number of cows, sheep and chickens born each day, while others will awaken to human body counts of persons deceased from violence. Life isn't always fair.

Some of us will return to school districts where children have ample books, certified teachers, and classroom chairs. While others will have districts short on books, short on chairs and teachers who are not fully certified.

As legislators were we sent here to build Bridges or Walls? I'd like to think Bridge builders are much more valuable then construction of a wall.

To my Detroit Colleagues the tasks we are sent here to do are hampered and limited by partisan politics. Having served in local government as both a county commissioner for 3 years and council member for 16 years, I soon realized the added challenge of being in the minority. Not any fun. Nonetheless we respond as best we can by always responding to the concerns of our respective constituents.

Let me begin with you Brian Banks you are the most generous and giving, classy yet defiant person I've ever met. You fill any room the moment you walk into it. You know and understand this legislative job and you are an asset to any organization you're affiliated with.

Sherry Gay-Dagnogo you are quick to tell people that you started off in my office but everyone you tell that to knows you are a fireball and hardly believe you worked for anyone. You have shown you are willing to go the wall and enter battle on behalf of Detroit Public School students in particular but all children really. You won't fall down, you won't be bossed and your strength lies in your relentless determination and hope.

REP. LaTanya Garrett you persevere. I pity anyone who takes your petite stature as anything other than strength.

Stephanie Chang your presence here is evidence that Detroit voters are fair and seek a leader who will serve them with dedicated service.

Rep. Byrd what time is it? Your background in taxation and your steady hand as you serve is evidence to me that the nuclear code would be safe in your hands.

And here's to you Mrs. Robinson. Anyone seeking a co-pilot, a back up, or just the good old KA you're the woman for the job. Truly you exemplify age ain't nothing but a number.

Fred Durhal you may be your Father's son but you've proven you are a steady hand and you are your own man. You represent your District well and boy what a future you have ahead of you.

Harvey Santana there is no question the depths you will go to serve your community.

Ms. LL not cool J but Leslie Love you carry your heart on your sleeve. You are passionate and whimsical. But more than anything you want to do your best for those who you represent and from all accounts you are doing just that.

I salute you the members of the Detroit delegation.

David Rutledge you are both a gentleman and a scholar. You're the epitome of kindness and I'm honored to have shared the time we have together.

Democratic Leader Tim Greimel you are a class act and so very very talented. I am willing to go to the wall with you.

There are many challenges we face as a state. All of us know the saying all politics are local so keep your ear to the ground.

I've spent a large portion of my life addressing the issue of substance abuse. FOR over 30 years I have witnessed the ravaging nature of drugs including alcohol destroy individuals dreams, desires n hopes, harm families and communities. But I stand here to tell you an addict, is an addict, is an addict. It is total loss of self-control. Addiction is an equal-opportunity Destroyer. Regardless of your age, your race it offers an open door policy as an equal opportunity cess pool of regret. Financial status it matters not as no income is too low and no income too high.

We see the conversation changing today as faces of the horror of substance abuse throughout our nation has changed to include affluent suburbs as sons and daughters become addicted to opiate use. Suddenly it's not the man on the corner and my neighborhood. We are witnessing a conversion that is suddenly softer and caring and providing more resources. I will state again an addict is an addict and all addicts need help.

Like everyone here, I, too owe a debt of gratitude to the wonderful men and women who wear the red coats. Thank you Sergeant David Dickson and while each of you do a fine job I want to acknowledge Sgt.Randy Kindy who showed himself friendly.

Alice thank you....thank you...thank you. And former Rep. Denby I enjoyed spending an entire Saturday with you at Detroit's Eastern Market.

Roy Jones you have been with me from day 1. You are my brother you are my friend and I sincerely thank you for being there for our District and all of Detroit and Michigan. I want to thank everyone who served as interns during the past 6 years. Also Samuel Hill, Community liaison and and Deljuan Foster Student Intern both dedicated community workers.

There is a serious issue of flooding throughout District 2. It must be addressed.

Flint must remain on each of our radar screens. First because we must make the children of Flint and all residents who call Flint home whole again and better than before. Secondly because the tragedy of Flint must never occur again.

On the issue of Driver's Responsibility I would hope we would find a way to clean up the records of over a million michiganders who find themselves under the auspices of Driver's Responsibility fees and fines and more fees and more fines. It was wrong when first instituted and it remains wrong today. Even thou it is being phased out relief can not come soon enough.

Let me give a shout out to former Representatives Maureen Stapleton and Lisa Howze and Tommie Stallworth. They arrived with us 6 years ago and proved themselves to be exceptional legislators.

Finally allow me to speak from St. Mathews 25th chapter 31 thru 46..... For I was hungry and you gave me food.....I was thirsty and you gave me drink.....I was a stranger and you welcomed me in... I was naked and you clothed meI was sick and you visited....I was in prison and you came to me.....and the King states clearly when asked when did we do these things by stating emphatically when you've done it unto the least of these you've done it unto me.

Perhaps some of us delight in having our names called here but let me assure you there is a much, much higher place not here on earth. Let us prepare daily for that higher calling.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of Kwanzaa and because it is an important part of my life I will conclude my remarks with each principle

UMOJA.....UNITY
 KUJICHAGULIA...SELF DETERMINATION
 UJIMA COLLECTIVE WORK N RESPONSIBILITIES
 UJIMAACOOPERATIVE ECONOMICS
 NIAPURPOSE
 KUUMBA....CREATIVITY
 AND IMANI.....FAITH

Thank you."

Rep. McBroom:

"Mr. Speaker,

To you and all my fellow representatives I wish to first extend my warmest and most heartfelt affinities. You all hold a very special place in my heart. It is a love that comes not just from our shared time and experience but also from my sincere caring for each of you and for your future. One of my favorite Sunday School songs (you all know I love to sing) is 'Be a Missionary.' The song taught me that wherever I am- 'town or country or a busy avenue' or anywhere else I am to be 'God's own emissary.' I am so thankful to God for the opportunity I had to serve Him here. Whether it was in speeches, prayers, committees, bible study, bill drafting, singing, or dinner conversation I have wanted to live in a way that glorified God, told you about Jesus' work on my heart, and fulfilled my morning prayer that each day, I would follow Colossians 3:17: 'In all you do, work with all your heart as working for the Lord.' I know I was never perfect at this and there were clearly times I did not represent my Lord well. I pray your forgiveness for those times.

Speaking of forgiveness, I will offer my apology now if the remainder of my speech steps heavily on anyone's toes. You see, it is tempting for me to just walk out of this place with laughter at the wonderful times I had with many of you- which were often. It is tempting to simply share the awful poignancy of the deaths of Peter and Julie- which is still raw and heartbreaking. It is tempting to simply wax eloquent only in thanks and gratitude to family, friends, staff, and colleagues- for which I am overflowing. Yes, all these have been parts of many fine speeches and mine could follow in similitude to a kind, even sincere, ovation and accolades.

But, as it seems, I have never been quite normal in this chamber. I have bored or exasperated many of you with my speeches and verbosity. (Rep. Pettalia was a frequent critic that I was stealing his overtime.) I believe in the power of words. I believe in persuasion and that all speaking should flow with purpose to an end. As a child I was always told that I talk to much and that I would be a lawyer or a politician. But speaking is how we ought to communicate and our founders and the generations that followed used speech to mighty ends. Now it is diminished in many circles, even here, to sound bites and quips: an end unto itself with purpose only to be heard but not to persuade; not to promote discourse or share one's own viewpoint as an invitation to receive and provide input, insight, and illumination.

When I spoke to the expulsion of two of our members I shared from my heart my passion for the foundations of this institution. I shared with you the noble vision our founders and forebears kept alive to see men govern themselves in these hallowed halls. I attempted to communicate the solemnity of our duties and our oaths and a necessary commitment to truth. Now, in my last moments of elocution with you I feel I must share my observations about the terrible ways this body falls far short of the glory and honor it ought to aspire.

You see, I am a dreamer of sorts but most would call me naive. I came to this place challenged by my faith to not live for men's praise but for God's. And, having spent a great deal of time understanding the founding of our nation and state: its principles of inalienable rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; I was anxious to serve here to preserve them. I was anxious to promote justice and liberty, righteousness and the worth of each person, freedom of conscience and worship. I girded myself up for a fight against those who believe in ideas that I feel are antithetical to the continuation of those ideals.

But what I was not prepared for was the corporate lack of focus and passion I found to pursue these values. While nearly every member believes in these things and ascribes to our common heritage the sad truth is that we are normally too busy with the lower work than to ascend to the high. We can fight all day for pensions for a group, or a new curriculum, or gun rights, or choice, or tax changes, or pigs, or banning monkeys, or building roads- there's nothing wrong with the debate on any of these items. But where we break down is in failing to fight the injustices our own government precipitates when they are counter to issues that also have a claim on us.

Let me speak plainly so that my point is not lost in my love for words. When will we work together to fight injustice our own laws and government create? For example, when I first came here the DNR has created a power struggle with the legislature over pigs. They demanded, or dared, that the legislature must act or they would act for us. Further, the department dictated how our action should look. When Kevin Daley, Sharon Tyler, and myself refused to accept their way without compromise and sense the department proceeded to work against us by going to other stakeholders and opposition groups. Ultimately, the department held the upper hand and dictated to this body how it should write laws rather than the other way around. But why does this matter? Because a great injustice came from our failure to corporately repudiate the department. People had their lawful property destroyed or confiscated and their livelihoods and dreams ended without just compensation or due process.

This was further exacerbated by interest groups that were more interested in protectionism than in maintaining our fundamental beliefs in freedom and private property. And while I do not for a moment believe any of us seeks this job or comes each day with any intention to do other than our conscience dictates it is also all too clear to me that the influence of influence is undeniable. I watched in amazement in the first months of my service in 2011 to see a massive update to the telecom act pass. Not that that was all bad. But I remember being shocked to see many people of a particular political side voting for it too. When I approached my friend Steve Lindberg to ask what was going on he taught me a valuable lesson. That is when I first learned that influence is not done as is so often envisioned or portrayed in movies and books. Instead it sneaks up on us all through the making of agendas and the control of information to those in power.

Leadership- not the quality of but the positions in this chamber- have become too powerful on both sides of the aisle. The stakes of the game have become too high. This is played out in the practices of choreographing the minute details of our sessions: predetermining who will speak, what they will say, what amendments will succeed and which will fail. This is a problem we all inherited, not created; but still we should work against these practices. We have abandoned the beauty of an unpredictable process because it is too chancy and too messy. Heaven forbid we let a member make and win his case for an amendment because it might jeopardize some other member who is unable to explain his vote against some political talking point. Heaven forbid we are forced to turn down good ideas we can not afford or accept one at the expense of some other person's preferred project. Worst is keeping good ideas from receiving a vote because the leadership has found it easier to work its own chamber rather than the other one.

Are we really too afraid of negotiating in good faith that we entrap our own colleagues- even in our own party- by doing omnibus bills that blend so many issues together that it is impossible, particularly for the inexperienced, to object without endangering what they have been informed they must attain by the political gurus who tell us how vital our re-election is?

Most dramatic to this show is our disregard for the obvious. While issues like immediate effect and the following of proper order might seem blasé they speak to our willingness to accept the farce and sophistries that occur. (Seriously- we do not know how to count whether 1/5 want a roll call vote? To my everlasting shame I voted to support this idiocy in my first term.) If we do not stoop to follow the mundane when it is apparently irrelevant we only diminish the constitutional protections from abuse when the issues are paramount. (And I haven't forgotten how I was betrayed by those who had protested this farce so vigorously when I got a vote to fix it. Nor how some even articulated that while they vociferously protested one side's abuse they did not want change believing the power necessary for whoever was in majority.)

None of this is new. It is politics. And there have been abuses in politics and government for millennia. It is a natural outflow of our human nature because we are not as good as we think we are deep inside- I know the rot in my own heart. But until all men are angels and we do not need laws what can we do? I recommend we refuse to compromise on following the constitution. I recommend that we do not allow a fear of the uncertainty of the process to manipulate us into acquiescence to abusing power. I recommend that we not forget that the people give the legislature power to serve them. I recommend that we approach issues like Flint without fear but with commitment- and not neuter our own chamber by faulty agreements making us less than co-equal partners in such efforts. I recommend we grow some courage to remind the governor we make policy and it does not have to take 56, 20, and 1 every time. Most of all, if you want a fix to diminish the power of leadership we must stop allowing them to monopolize the money they use to buy our support and we must reform term limits.

Clearly the extreme shortness of Michigan's term limits is diminishing the abilities of this chamber. It makes a few chosen the kings and power pieces while the rest are relegated to pawns. It keeps the pawns in check- rather than the king- by removing the security time provides to challenge the king and powers. Our citizens do not have the opportunity to be properly represented by members who have the full opportunities of their skills realized during their service because it is unnaturally cut short. And we as members fall victim to unchallenged power and a lack of empathy for those with differing views as minority and majority become limited, situational realities rather than common possibilities.

So, after all that, I do not necessarily expect you to applaud. And again, I apologize for stepping on toes. I do not point any fingers without acknowledging them pointing back at me. But I care too much for what we should be to go without challenging those following to do better. It is time to step up and restore proper order. It is time to honor each other by not controlling the process with an iron fist but to let it flow as it should and build trust again. I implore the incoming leadership to have the courage to restore the beauty and honesty of unedited debate along with honest voting on motions. You would see that we can survive doing it right! The locals do! Other bodies do! The senate does! And we used to as well and we can again.

You see, it came home to me when I went to the funeral of my first opponent, Representative Nerat. There I saw that she was someone's mother, someone's grandmother, someone's daughter. I never got to know her beyond opponent. What a tragedy! The lesson continued as I looked at who have been my friends here- the ones I spent time with and got to know. For example, Representatives Hovey-Wright and Rutledge and Talabi and I disagree on so much but we sat by each other at orientation and have always remained friends. Rep. Pettalia was my first friend in Lansing from before we were even elected. I barely knew Kevin Daley when his son was lost but yet I was there and shared as a brother in dairy farming and the legislature. And it took some time but I even came to trust Bill Zaagman despite his stalwart work against me on the pig issue because I got to know he was not just the issue, but a person. It all comes back to loving our neighbor as ourselves. That belief does not end when we walk in this room and it will not end for me when we leave.

Thanks to the very special members of my Oversight committee, particularly Representative Robinson- a member whose total honesty I dream of emulating. Thanks to Patty Pluta and the other committee staff: Hassan, Andrew, Elizabeth, and Dave. And thanks to all my partners in music including Representatives Poleski, Shirkey, Kurtz, Tom Hooker, and others.

I would be very remiss to not recognize my tremendous appreciation for the staff and Clerks- Rich thanks for making the UP proud; and Gary, thanks for answering my many questions about procedure and history. Thank you to all the capitol staff- especially those who love the history of the building. Thank you to the maintenance folks who took such good care of me, even fixing the piano bench and getting the piano out of storage. Thank you to Speaker Cotter who took a chance on someone most thought was too much of a loose canon- if you have not until now I suppose you have regrets now but I thank you. Chairing Oversight and Ethics and the special committees was an enormous honor. Thank you to my excellent staff: Emily, Carli, Kara, Katie, Nathan, Marilyn and Dan. But especially to Paul Burns: God truly worked in an amazing way to bring us together and you have been not just a great help with the work but a friend and confidant. You have been the one I can lean on to know whether I am staying true and consistent to my values. Thanks to Tom Casperson, my friend, mentor, and brother in Christ. I will miss our time together and I will never be able to repay your many kindnesses.

Thank you to all the sergeants but especially to Chief Dickson who saw me at my lowest points when this place had crushed me yet again. Chief, God used you in those moments in ways only another believer who has been broken can understand: thank you, I know you have been there. And Joy Brewer, you did the same for me often but particularly when I was so depressed in April of my first year and you reminded me that I had made a commitment to God to not worry about the consequences to my re-election in doing what is right even when it is hard. And Rebecca Park- you always put me in my place when you reminded me that whatever was going on, it was not all about me. Thank you for keeping my boots grounded in the crap that matters: literally and figuratively- God, family, and farm.

You are all always most welcome in the UP. Please look me up and visit. Come for the State Fair or for Pictured Rocks or the Copper Dog, or the Big John Iron Mine in Vulcan. And stop by the McBroom farm- I'll introduce you to the cows along with my wonderful family who gave me the chance to be here. We will have baby five in a few days and I will introduce you when you visit. May God richly bless you all. Merry Christmas!"
