The Rev. Jeff Bradley, Pastor, Three Oaks Free Methodist Church, Three Oaks, offered the following invocation:

“Dear Heavenly Father, There is no other like You. None with Your wisdom. None with Your counsel. None with Your strength. And, none with Your power, Lord.

Your works are marvelous. You set the stars within their place and set the earth within its course. You created man and entrusted him with the earth. We acknowledge today that every good and perfect gift comes from You. We praise You and thank You for the blessings in our lives.

We know that it was You who instituted government as a help for mankind. In this assembly today, men and women have gathered to discuss issues, weigh the benefits and costs of programs and statutes, and to represent the interests of the people of the state of Michigan.

Lord, Your wisdom is needed here as these people face an awesome task. Many issues arise, Lord, that bring out great passion and emotion; but, we know today that passion and emotion does not always lead to the best solution. Our knowledge of what is happening in our communities is only partial—Yours is complete. That is why we seek Your presence today in the opening of this assembly—to ask for Your discernment in our decision-making. We request today Your leading in this place and Your guiding us through the decision-making processes.

Lord, I thank You for each representative present here today. I thank You for their leadership abilities as well as their hearts to be our servants. I ask for Your peace in their lives. Amen.”

The Speaker assumed the Chair.

Reps. Anthony, Bodem, Callahan, Cherry, Dobronski, Gagliardi, Gustafson, Hale, Hammerstrom, Hood, Kukuk, Law, Owen, Prusi and Vaughn were named co-sponsors of the bill.

Rep. Kaza, having reserved the right to explain his protest against the passage of the bill, made the following statement:

“Mr. Speaker and members of the House:

This legislation would allow the Univ. of Michigan to forfeit the private property of citizens prior to conviction. According to the House Legislative Analysis Section, the forfeiture would occur when a warrant is issued “or incident to a lawful arrest.” This bill is a blatant attack on private property meant to enrich certain government universities at the expense of citizens who have not been convicted in a court of law.”

Rep. Jaye, having reserved the right to explain his protest against the passage of the bill, made the following statement:

“Mr. Speaker and members of the House:

This bill creates a one year misdemeanor and $500.00 fine if someone uses a name or logo of a sports team. This bill will outlaw a restaurant, bar or charity hall that has a Super Bowl, Rose Bowl or any other event or gathering to view or celebrate or commemorate an organized sporting event.

It’s outrageous that public institutions, like the University of Michigan, can prohibit a restaurant or other group from using a logo which was created at public expense.”

Rep. Gagliardi moved that House Committees be given leave to meet during the balance of today’s session.
The motion prevailed.

By unanimous consent the House returned to the order of Motions and Resolutions

Rep. Gagliardi moved that a respectful message be sent to the Senate requesting the return of House Bill No. 4219 and House Bill No. 4220.

The motion prevailed.

Reps. Fitzgerald, Rocca, Dobronski, Kelly, Middaugh, Freeman, Raczkowski, Perricone, Baird, McBryde, Galloway, Varga, Crissman, Goschka, McNutt, Hammerstrom, Dobb, Bodem, Richner and Birkholz offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 62.

A resolution honoring Barry M. Wright, Ph.D., the 1997 recipient of the Selma Fraiberg Award.

Whereas, It is with great respect for his contributions that we pay tribute to Barry M. Wright, Ph.D., as he receives the Selma Fraiberg Award from the Michigan Association for Infant Mental Health. This honor is a testimony to his unwavering focus on the shaping of strong and healthy first relationships to nurture our babies. Through his guidance and quiet leadership, numerous programs have been able to offer support to troubled families, to assist parents in learning what their babies and young children need in order to thrive, as well as how to offer their children better beginnings that positively and dramatically influence their futures; and

Whereas, As one would expect from an individual like Dr. Wright, his impact is felt far beyond the confines of his office. He weaves together many perspectives with eloquence and grace, never losing sight of the goal of providing a secure base of understanding which allows the practitioner to return to the next home visit renewed and better prepared to sensitively and effectively respond to the family's needs. Dr. Wright's style of mentoring and advocacy on behalf of children and parents is unquestionably genuine, low-key, and grounded in the strength of his commitment, his intellect, and his compassion; and

Whereas, Day in and day out, Dr. Wright endures, always striving to do his best and earning the respect of his peers and clients. The list of communities and programs which have benefited from his expertise is extensive. It is only with such caring support and consultation that we can maintain our own abilities and effectiveness at providing much needed assistance to troubled families in troubled times. Dr. Barry M. Wright has been a clear, persisting beacon of light for countless infant-parent clinicians, advocates, policy makers, and others concerned with the quality of life offered our youngest citizens; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we hereby honor Barry M. Wright, Ph.D., recipient of the Selma Fraiberg Award from the Michigan Association for Infant Mental Health. His contributions to the families of Michigan and to the professionals striving to make each family the safe, secure base for children to grow up healthy, happy, and productive is greatly appreciated; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Dr. Wright as a token of our high esteem for his contribution to the children and families of Michigan.

Pending the reference of the resolution to a committee,

Rep. Gagliardi moved that Rule 77 be suspended and the resolution be considered at this time.

The motion prevailed, 3/5 of the members present voting therefor.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution,

The resolution was adopted, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

Reps. Vaughn, Freeman, Scott, DeHart, Hood, Quarles, Hale, Price, Kaza, Wallace, Stallworth, Thomas, Wetters, Parks, Rocca, Dobronski, Kelly, Murphy, Tesanovich, Baird, Martinez, Galloway, Varga, Jelinek and Bodem offered the following concurrent resolution:

House Concurrent Resolution No. 42.

A concurrent resolution to urge the United States Department of Agriculture to take strong steps to halt all discrimination against Black farmers and to memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact recommended legislation.

Whereas, In any situation, the difficulties facing family farming operations are numerous and challenging. The number of farms has declined steadily for many years, both in Michigan and throughout the entire country. For Black farmers across this nation, however, the obstacles to survival are staggering. Recent investigations through the Congressional Black Caucus and organizations like the National Black Farmers Association have revealed the extent of discrimination against African American farm operations. These civil rights violations were contained in recommendations of a task force within the United States Department of Agriculture; and

Whereas, Access to capital, a vital component of any farming operation, has been denied to many Black farmers. When not denied outright, through loans refused and ultimate foreclosures, loans for Black farmers often take far longer to be approved. The result of a delay for a farm loan is often financial ruin; and

Whereas, According to the National Black Farmers Association, the USDA foreclosed on 1,000 Black farms in the last eight months. Black farmers are losing land at a rate of 9,000 acres a week. At this rate, according to the chair of the Congressional Black Caucus, Black farms will vanish by the year 2000; and

Whereas, The USDA, through its civil rights study group, has identified specific legislative changes to combat discrimination in its policies and programs. Any delay in implementing needed changes and in revamping the department's response to Black farmers is too long; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That we urge the United States Department of Agriculture to take strong steps to halt all discrimination against Black farmers and to memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation recommended by the USDA Civil Rights Task Force; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the United States Department of Agriculture, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The concurrent resolution was referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 11.

A concurrent resolution to express support for the recently announced balanced budget agreement and to urge the President and the Congress of the United States to include in the finalized actions significant cuts in federal taxes totaling $135 billion.

Whereas, The recent announcement from the President and congressional leadership that an agreement has been reached on an overall plan to achieve a balanced budget and cut taxes by $135 billion is cause for great optimism among all Americans. In addition to the importance of this step toward fiscal responsibility for our nation, the announcement also included significant tax cuts that will help strengthen the long-term vitality of our economy. Among these tax cuts are proposals to reduce significantly the federal estate tax and the capital gains tax and to create tax credits for families with children and for college tuition costs; and

Whereas, The federal unified gift and estate tax generates a minimal amount of federal revenue, especially considering the high cost of collection and compliance, and in fact has been shown to decrease those federal revenues from what they might otherwise have been. This "Death Tax" has been identified as destructive to job opportunity and expansion, especially to minority entrepreneurs and family farmers; and

Whereas, Federal estate taxes go into effect for estates with values exceeding $600,000. The rate of tax rises sharply and begins, in effect, at 37 percent of the amount over $600,000. As a result, many families, including farming operations and other modestly sized businesses, are forced to liquidate assets to pay the tax. Many observers feel that the federal estate tax contributes to the low rate of family owned businesses successfully passing down to the next generations; and

Whereas, The threshold for federal estate tax liability was last amended in 1981, with the $600,000 level going into effect January 1, 1987. In addition to the impact of inflation over the past decades, the value of the assets of many individuals, including small business owners, has risen dramatically with the rise in equity values in real estate and the stock market. As a result, more and more middle class families face severe tax bills; and

Whereas, The capital gains tax is another major impediment to investment in our country. Homeowners, investors, and business owners are important generators of wealth and employment, yet their full potential for creating jobs and capital is dulled by a capital gains system that, in effect, is a disincentive for people to pursue their dreams and ambitions. The capital gains tax serves to hamper growth and financial strength not only for individuals and families, but also for the nation as a whole; and

Whereas, Of all investment strategies our country should pursue, tax policies to give direct help to families with children is a concept that can only enrich our nation. The budget proposal calls for a tax credit of $500 per child under the age of 18. With the correlation between our future and the health and well-being of the next generation, a tax credit for children will reap many rewards for the people who most need it; and

Whereas, As America attempts to reinvigorate its economy in the face of new challenges in technology and global competition, it is clear that education is of the utmost importance. Just as our country derived enormous benefits from the GI education program started after World War II, we would do well to encourage people to gain the skills America must have in the twenty-first century. The budget proposal includes a tax credit of $1,500 per child for the first two years of college for students maintaining certain standards; and

Whereas, Reductions in the federal estate tax and the capital gains tax and creation of tax credits for college tuition and families with children are consistent with the ultimate goals of savings and investment inherent in a balanced budget; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That we express support for the recently announced balanced budget agreement and to urge the President and the Congress of the United States to include in the finalized actions significant cuts in federal taxes totaling $135 billion, including cuts in estate and capital gains taxes and credits for tuition and for families with children; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The Senate has adopted the concurrent resolution.

The concurrent resolution was referred to the Committee on House Oversight and Ethics.

Reps. Rocca, Dobronski, Middaugh, Kukuk, Raczkowski, Perricone, Martinez, McBryde, Galloway, Bodem, Goschka, Green and Hammerstrom were named co-sponsors of the concurrent resolution.
