Rev. Richard Fledderjohann, Pastor of Brown City Missionary Church in Brown City, offered the following invocation:

“Lord, Yours is the greatness, the power, the glory, the victory and the majesty. The kingdom is Yours and You reign over it and You are exalted. We pray, Father, for Your help and Your wisdom for this body in the decisions that it will make today and in the future. We pray, Father, for Your hand and Your presence with each member—each one present and each one not. We pray for Your guidance and Your direction, Lord, upon our governments—the federal government, and this state of Michigan. We pray, Father, the wisdom that only You can give would be theirs today and we pray this in the strong name of Jesus Christ. Amen.”

Rep. Gosselin, having reserved the right to explain his nay vote, made the following statement:

“Mr. Speaker and members of the House:

The Great Lakes are Michigan’s most precious natural resource. Protecting the lakes is one of our most important public policy goals. Protecting the Great Lakes is so important that it’s wrong for politicians to play political games with it. And that’s exactly what’s going on with this and related amendments to a one-year budget bill. A one-year budget bill is by definition not the place to make long-term policy about an issue as important as protecting the lakes. But some Lansing politicians would rather make cheap headlines with a 'sexy' political issue than try to find solutions in a serious way. That's their right, but don't ask me to participate. That is why I vote 'no' on this amendment."

Rep. Mead moved that the bill be placed on the order of Third Reading of Bills.

House Resolution No. 63.

A resolution to memorialize the Congress of the United States to investigate airfare pricing, especially in markets where mergers have eroded competition.

Whereas, In recent years, mergers among airlines have significantly changed air transportation throughout our country. There are two pending mergers involving major carriers that, if completed, will result in two airlines controlling half of the entire United States airline market; and

Whereas, While there have been increasing concerns over the quality of air services, the prospect of even more communities facing a market situation with little or no competition has many observers calling for actions that would ensure that there is fairness in pricing and acceptable standards of performance. Certain communities and regions of the country face the possibility of losing air services entirely or dealing with prices that do not have to respond to competition; and

Whereas, Our nation's air transportation network represents an enormous investment and a public-private partnership through the airports, air traffic control systems, and infrastructures that are maintained; and

Whereas, There are discussions underway in Congress and in the United States Justice Department on the impact of mergers, whether or not airlines are fulfilling previous agreements, and relevant antitrust issues. These discussions need to include serious consideration of airfare pricing, particularly in areas where little or no competition exists; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we memorialize the Congress of the United States to investigate airfare pricing, especially in markets where mergers have eroded competition; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on House Oversight and Operations.

Reps. Patterson, Howell, Adamini, O'Neil, Sanborn, DeVuyst, Shulman, Cassis, Richardville, DeRossett, Meyer, Toy, Minore, Caul, Kuipers, Woronchak, Koetje, Shackleton, Dennis, Van Woerkom, Birkholz, Middaugh and Bishop offered the following concurrent resolution:

House Concurrent Resolution No. 20.

A concurrent resolution to memorialize the Congress of the United States to investigate airfare pricing, especially in markets where mergers have eroded competition.

Whereas, In recent years, mergers among airlines have significantly changed air transportation throughout our country. There are two pending mergers involving major carriers that, if completed, will result in two airlines controlling half of the entire United States airline market; and

These discussions need to include serious consideration of airfare pricing, particularly in areas where little or no competition exists; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That we memorialize the Congress of the United States to investigate airfare pricing, especially in markets where mergers have eroded competition; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 21.

A concurrent resolution to memorialize the President and the Congress of the United States to develop, fund, and deploy a national missile defense system.

Whereas, The ballistic missile threat to the United States has been declared by the President, the Secretary of Defense, members of Congress, the bipartisan Commission to Assess the Ballistic Missile Threat to the United States (known as the Rumsfeld Commission), and the United States intelligence community to be a clear, present, and growing danger to the United States; and

Whereas, The United States of America currently cannot stop even one missile launched with malice or by accident by any number of foreign states or terrorist organizations; and

Whereas, It is immoral to intentionally leave the American people, our troops and overseas allies, and the nation's children vulnerable to attack by nuclear, chemical, or biological weapons delivered by ballistic missiles; and

Whereas, The citizens of our state and nation remain exposed to missile attack; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That we memorialize the President and the Congress of the United States to develop, fund, and deploy a national missile defense system. We urge that the system be developed as soon as technologically possible as an effective and affordable global missile defense system that includes a sea-based component to intercept theater and long-range missiles, space-based sensors, and ground-based interceptors and radar to protect all Americans, United States troops stationed abroad, and our nation's allies; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.
