Senate Bill 1009 (as introduced 6-1-16)
Sponsor: Senator Bert Johnson
Committee: Finance

Date Completed: 6-6-16

CONTENT

The bill would amend the General Property Tax Act to extend the deadline, from June 30, 2016, to June 30, 2019, for a county treasurer to enter into a tax foreclosure avoidance agreement with an owner of residential property returned as delinquent or forfeited to the county treasurer.

Under the Act, on March 1 each year, certified abandoned property and property that is delinquent for taxes, interest, penalties, and fees for the previous 12 months or more is forfeited to the county treasurer for the total unpaid amount. Property forfeited to the county treasurer may be redeemed at any time by March 31 immediately after the entry of a foreclosure judgment or in a contested case within 21 days of the entry of a foreclosure judgment, upon the payment of certain amounts to the county treasurer.

By June 15 each year, a foreclosing governmental unit must file with the circuit court a petition listing all property forfeited and not redeemed to the county treasurer to be foreclosed for the total of the forfeited unpaid delinquent taxes, interest, penalties, and fees. The petition must seek a judgment in favor of the foreclosing governmental unit for the forfeited unpaid delinquent taxes, interest, penalties, and fees listed against each parcel of property. The governmental unit may withhold property from the petition under certain circumstances, including cases of substantial financial hardship.

The Act permits a foreclosing governmental unit to create a delinquent property tax installment payment plan for eligible property whose title is held by a financially distressed person. If the person makes the initial required payment, the property may be removed from the foreclosure petition. If the payment plan is completed, interest that had accumulated must be waived.

("Eligible property" means property that is a principal residence exempt from the tax levied by a local school district for school operating purposes.)

Until June 30, 2016, the Act also allows a county treasurer to enter into a tax foreclosure avoidance agreement for a term of up to five years with an owner of property returned as delinquent to the county treasurer or forfeited to the county treasurer if the property is classified as residential real property and is eligible property; and if the owner makes an initial payment of at least 10% of the delinquent taxes owed on the property. While a tax foreclosure avoidance agreement is effective, the property must be withheld or removed from the foreclosure petition, interest at the rate provided under Section 78g(3)(c)(ii) must apply, and the owner must make timely payments as provided under the agreement, including timely payment of all nondelinquent taxes on the property.

A tax foreclosure avoidance agreement must require regular periodic installment payments, and the final payment may not be disproportionately larger than regular periodic installment payments in prior years.

A county treasurer may refuse to enter into a tax foreclosure avoidance agreement with an owner who is not in compliance with another tax foreclosure avoidance agreement with the county treasurer or with a delinquent property tax installment plan with the county treasurer.

A county treasurer may not enter into more than two tax foreclosure avoidance agreements with an owner. If an owner fails to comply with a tax foreclosure avoidance agreement or if the tax foreclosure avoidance agreement is no longer effective, all of the following will occur:

- Interest under Section 78g(3)(b) and any additional interest otherwise applicable must apply to any unpaid taxes on the property.
- The property must be included in the immediately succeeding foreclosure petition.
- The owner may not bid on property subject to sale if that property was subject to the tax foreclosure avoidance agreement.

The bill would extend from June 30, 2016, to June 30, 2019, the deadline by which a county treasurer may enter into a tax foreclosure avoidance agreement with an owner of property returned as delinquent or forfeited to the county treasurer.

(Section 78g(3)(b) provides for additional interest computed at a noncompounded rate of 0.5% per month or fraction of a month on the taxes that were originally returned as delinquent, computed from the March 1 preceding the forfeiture. Section 78g(3)(c)(ii) provides for interest computed at a noncompounded rate of 0.5% per month or a fraction of a month on the taxes that were originally returned as delinquent, computed from the date that the taxes originally were returned as delinquent, and the additional interest collected under Section 78g(3)(b) is waived.)

FISCAL IMPACT

The bill would have an unknown but likely minimal impact on State and local property tax revenue. The proposed three-year extension of authority for a foreclosing governmental unit to enter into an installment payment plan with an eligible taxpayer would maintain an option for collecting property tax revenue and preventing foreclosure.
