Rep. Yousef Rabhi, from the 53rd District, offered the following invocation:

“So let us stand in this convention knowing that on some positions; cowardice asks the questions, is it safe; expediency asks the question, is it politic; vanity asks the question, is it popular, but conscious asks the question, is it right. And on some positions, it is necessary for the moral individual to take a stand that is neither safe, nor politic nor popular; but he must do it because it is right, Martin Luther King.”

The Speaker called the Speaker Pro Tempore to the Chair.

Comments and Recommendations

Rep. Lauwers moved that the following remarks be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

The Speaker resumed the Chair.

Rep. Singh:

“Thank you very much Mr. Speaker.

I love this institution. The first time I came and saw the House Chamber I was an intern for the late Charlie Harrison Jr., and I remember watching from the gallery and being amazed by everything that was going on. The people who were here during that time, before term limits, I still view as giants; people that I look up to and many of whom helped to shape the leader that I am today. I look back fondly and remember a number of those members who helped me throughout my professional career including people like Tom Mathieu, Jeff Padden, and the late Curtis Hertel. A number of them had an impact, but the person who probably has touched me the most and who taught me the most was the Representative of my district who was here for 22 years, Lynn Jondahl.

Lynn was the type of person who took every day with passion, every day with a smile, and every day with a quick wit. If a Republican disagreed with him or a Democrat disagreed with him, you would still leave that conversation liking Lynn Jondahl and wanting to continue to be his friend. He never wavered on his beliefs, and he knew the tax code better than anybody. So, when I ran for this position I thought to myself, ‘who better to emulate than Lynn Jondahl?’ I don’t know if I have lived up to that standard in my six years, but I hope that the things that I have done here will be things that he would be proud of and that it would emulate the type of leader that I was taught to be.

When we give these going away speeches, we talk about them falling under the section of Comments and Recommendations. That's what our floor leader says before we give our speeches and goodbyes. So, I wanted to talk about three recommendations. And these are recommendations that are often given when we are first joining this institution. The first is to always focus on an issue area. We have a limited period of time, and I decided that when I came in here that I was going to focus on the budget and appropriations, and it was the best decision I ever made. I got to meet so many friends on both sides of the aisle. At times they were adversaries, but at other times they helped me get things done. At times they were people who worked with me to get good legislation done and bad legislation stopped. And I just want to thank everybody who served in that appropriations process with me during those four years. I appreciate your service and helping me learn more about this state and the challenges, as well as opportunities that we have in front of us.

The second area is that we need to focus on being bi-partisan and coming together. The memories that I have of the things that we did the best are the times when we actually came together with one another. I take a look at things like Medicaid Expansion. I take a look at the Detroit Bankruptcy/the Grand Bargain. Those were hard things to do but we did them together. I remember on the day we passed the Grand Bargain, we all broke out into applause. We broke decorum here on the House floor because it was something that was hard that we all did together. Obviously, some of the biggest challenges that I've had in my six years were times that we decided not to be bi-partisan, when we did not reach across the aisle, when we could not find compromise. And so I always recommend that we find those opportunities for all of us to come together.

Lastly, relationships are key in this town. I hope that in all my relationships you found me to be a person that focused on finding the right answers with you, that my word was my bond. I look back at many issues, one of those being Energy, that that was one of our great opportunities for bi-partisanship because we had cultivated strong working relationships. I was told when I first started the conversation on that, there was no way Democrats could get energy efficiency as well as renewable energy expanded. I said no, I think we can, and let's continue to work on it. It was in those last days of the lame duck session where we took a very complicated conversation that we had over two years and those last minutes of going in and out of Governor Snyder's Office having conversations, back and forth, that a deal was cut. I want to thank Rob VerHeulen as well as Chris Afendoulis who worked with the Governor on the one side of the equation and my partner for two years, Aric Nesbitt, who worked with me tirelessly through that Energy legislation and got us to an actual solution. When we walked away on that last day of lame duck we were all proud of something that we did together. That was based on relationships and things that we did with one another. So those are my recommendations.

And as with everybody who has given these speeches, there is some thank you's to be had. I'll just start off at the top with my wife, Kerry. It's been an incredible partnership. She has lived through this whole process and our relationship has lived through this whole process as I started running as we were dating, and we got engaged during the primary, and got married a couple weeks after the November election. It's been an incredible partnership and I don't know how I would have done this without you. I will say the proudest day that I had in this chamber was the day that you and our son Remy came and were on the House Floor. I love you and thank you for everything. I also want to thank my parents. My father and my mother were immigrants from India. Their opportunity to come to this country to make a change and to live the American dream was something I admired. It helped teach my brother and me the value in giving back to your community because of what this country gave to them. It is one of the reasons why I ran for public office. I thank them both for the example they led.

As we always do, we have to thank our staff. As we look at our staff, Kerry and I both view the staff as our family. We all call ourselves 'Team Singh,' or whatever your last name is. But this is not only a team, not only employees, but they are part of our family. And I look at the first group, the six people that got us through that very tough and very competitive election in 2012- Rami Galvan, Paul Mooney, Molly Korn, Jordan Bresnahan and Steve Wooden. They all had just graduated from college or were just finishing up their senior year. They were all lead by a young staffer from the Senate who we stole from soon-to-be Governor-elect Gretchen Whitmer- Jack Schmitt. They ran an incredible campaign that got me here. Then, as I came to this institution Jordan Bresnahan and Molly Korn opened up my office. And as my colleagues elected me floor leader I was proud to add three individuals to my staff over that period of time- Ryan Sebolt, Sarah Schillio and Kris Young. I want to give a specific shout out to Kris Young and Ryan Sebolt for running this floor during my two years. I think we did a lot and were able to make the points that we needed to make during that period of time. And although she wasn't part of my staff, she was part of Aric Nesbitt's staff and now Dan Lauwer's staff and I want to thank Joelle Demand. Always a great conduit from the Republican side and a valuable person to this institution. I want to thank those who have been with me on the Leader staff these last two years. Lisa Metcalf, who has run my calendar and kept me sane the last two years. I want to thank Erin Zettle, Nathan Triplett, Patti Tremblay, Katie Carey and Samantha Hart, Coffiann Hawthorne, Liz Kranz, Mike Grabemeyer, Jeremy Herliczek, Aaron Keel, Katie Doyal, Ron Owens, and the variety of interns that have come through our office, including Rachel. In our offsite world, I want to thank Mike McCollum, Courtney Goddard-Berryman, Hillary Kipp, Jason Ellenberg, Ben Miller and Kris Caswell for the work that they have done, and I am proud that I am leaving this chamber with a few more Democrats than when I started.

And the last thing is to thank the members that are here. I want to thank all of you. To my Republicans who worked with me, I won't name you by name, you've been called the gang of 12 or the gangs of 14, but those of you who worked with me during those times, I thank you. I want to thank David Rutledge who helped me with my transition when I became Floor Leader. I want to thank Tim Greimel for his leadership during the first four years as well as helping me during this transition. I want to thank my leadership team- Sherry Gay-Dagnogo, for your passion. Fred Durhal for your support and friendship, and your help on Appropriations. To the young people of my leadership team- and these three are people I knew before they were in the legislature, right out of college- Stephanie Chang, Jeremy Moss and Jon Hoadley- I appreciate the leaders you have become, and congratulations to the three of you.

To three new leaders- Darrin Camilleri, Abdullah Hammoud and Vanessa Guerra- I've only gotten to know you since you've been elected and I'm so proud of what you've done and what you will continue to do. I want to thank my messengers- any time I said 'I need you to speak on behalf of our values'- Donna Lasinski, Brian Elder and Yousef Rabhi- you all were the ones that could actually do that and I thank you. Thank you to my policy chair, Winnie Brinks and the Co-chair of our campaign team, Kevin Hertel. And then I look at the last few of you- Adam Zemke, Kristy Pagan as well as David LaGrand, I thank all of you but I also know you've added to my grey hairs during these two years. I want to thank the Dagwoods Caucus who allowed me to sometimes join them- they're from the UP, Macomb and Muskegon. I want to thank Bob Kosowski who is in his own caucus and his own world, for our friendship. I want to thank my partner over in the Senate, Jim Ananich, for our friendship, our long conversations. I look forward to what you will do in this upcoming term. And then, for our next set of leaders, I will talk about you but first I want to talk about my friend, Tom Leonard.

I know that often times people think it's funny that Tom and I are friends. We obviously came in together six years ago and we've often been on the opposite sides of issues. Often times in the beginning I was yelling from one of these microphones and he was up on the rostrum, but during that whole period of time we were friends, we were people who would appreciate the battle but we would always know that we had respect for one another. And I just want to say that on behalf of Kerry and I, we wish Janell, you and Hannah the best as we go forward. And I look forward to the time when both you and I can stop answering the question 'what are you going to do next?' To Lee Chatfield, I wish you the best as you go forward. You have a great opportunity to seek bipartisanship and I look forward to your leadership as Speaker. And then I want to end with our next leader for the Democrats, Chris Greig. I want to thank you for being a partner over these last two years. I've appreciated our friendship and I look forward to what you're going to do for our Caucus for the next two years.

So, I'll just end here because I don't write out speeches, just a few notes and names so I can remember the people that I wanted to thank, obviously I wasn't able to thank all of you but each one of you have made an impact. Whether you were part of our sergeant pool, whether you were part of our clerk pool, I want thank you on behalf of the citizens of Michigan. The work that you do is important, the work that we've done over these six years is important and there's still so much more to do. So thank you very much and I look forward to seeing you in whatever I do next. Thank you, Mr. Speaker."

The Speaker called the Speaker Pro Tempore to the Chair.

Speaker Leonard:

"Thank you Mr. Speaker. I have to tell you all what an incredible honor and blessing it has been to serve as Speaker of this chamber. I stood up there on that rostrum nearly two years ago and told all of you that it was something that I truly thanked the Lord for, and I have done so every day since. Outside of the title of daddy and husband, it has truly been the greatest honor of my life.

Now I have to tell you one quick story. I know many of you have heard this and I apologize for repeating myself, but being Speaker can be very, very humbling at times. I will never forget about two or three days after I'd been elected Speaker of the House, I reached out to my dearest best friend Tom Barrett and took him out to lunch about a mile from where Jenell and I live. As all of you know, the Speaker has a lot of discretion in terms of appointments in committees, staff and all that good stuff. Full disclosure, I'll admit it two years later, I wanted to make certain that my buddy was going to be taken care of. I took him out to lunch about a mile from our house, and as many of you know who follow his seat know that Tom and I share a border. The difference is that over the last six years I've been in a very safe seat. We haven't had to spend much money to ensure that I'd be re-elected. Tom, on the other hand, about a half million dollars is usually spent from one side telling the world how evil he is, and on the other side about a half million dollars is spent telling the world how great Tom is. Because our districts border each other we're in the same media market. So those hundreds and thousands of dollars of ads that are ran every two years, everybody in my district gets to see Tom Barrett's commercials. So about two years ago we're sitting there, we're having lunch at a local diner in my district, and this lady walks in and she gets so excited. I mean it was like a teenager seeing the Backstreet Boys in the '90s. She points across the restaurant right at Tom Barrett and says, 'Tom you are amazing, you are incredible, you are the man, you are awesome, I am so sorry we couldn't vote for ya because we don't live in your district, but we were rooting for you and were so glad you pulled this thing off!' The restaurant owner walks up, gives her a big hug and says, 'Well ma'am, I've got to tell ya something, that other Tom that Tom Barrett is sitting there having lunch with, he actually is your Representative and he just got elected Speaker of the House.' She took one big look and goes, 'I have no idea who the heck that guy is.' True story, and that's how I started this great ride.

Now as I get into this I just have to tell you a few warnings. One, as some of you may know I am someone who simply does not read from a speech. I can't do it. I have to take notes and I've got to speak from the heart, and that's what I intend to do today. Second, you are probably going to hear two words used repeatedly and that's 'blessed' and 'incredible' because one, I feel incredibly blessed for what I've been able to experience over the past two years, and two, I've worked with some of the most incredible people I have ever met in my life. And third, there is no way I am going to be able to thank every single person who is worthy to be thanked and has helped me through this process. This institution is so large there are so many moving parts, I learned that very quickly as soon as I took that gavel. So many have helped in that process, so if I forget or I have not included you in a personal thank you, please don't take offense. Please know we could not have done this without you.

First I want to thank my Chief of Staff, our Chief of Staff, Dan Pero. Dan, I cannot tell you how blessed and how fortunate we have been to have you come back and close out your career here at the House of Representatives. You have no idea how much I am going to miss walking into your office about eight times a day, closing both of those doors, and at some point making fun of every person in this room. Thank you for everything that you have done.

Phil Goodrich, our Deputy Chief. Phil you've been with me from day one. There's no way I'd be standing right here giving this speech if it wasn't for you and I want you to know how much I appreciate every single thing you have done, both for me as well as Jenell. We love you buddy.

Josiah Kissling, Becky Burtka, Gideon D'Assandro, Hassan Beydoun. Josiah, I have never met anybody that can manage this chamber and manage these members better than you do. One of the best decisions I ever made was asking you to come on as our Legislative Director. All these things we've been able to accomplish and all these bills we've been able to pass over the past two years, I know many think that it may be because of myself or our incredible leadership team, but about 90% of the credit is because of Josiah Kissling. I've never seen anybody that understands this process and understands these members better than he does. Thank you.

Becky, Becky the Budget Buster. Also one of the best decisions I ever made. I'll never forget getting the phone call from Josiah when we were looking for a budget director, and he said 'I've got to tell you, Becky Burtka is one of the sharpest people I know, we've got to bring her on to be our Budget Director.' Truly, it was the greatest advice he's given me and one of the best pieces of advice I've taken over the past two years. Thank you for making my job so much easier, thank you for what you've done for this institution, your future is so bright, thank you for everything you've done.

Gideon, I've told people this many times, if I could do this over again, you might be able to mess up hiring your Chief of Staff, you might be able to mess up hiring your Legislative Director, maybe even your General Counsel, but the one thing you better get right is your Press Secretary, cause they're always there to bail you out if you say something stupid. Gideon is by far one of the sharpest, not only political minds but communication minds that I have ever met and ever seen. And I want to thank you for all you've done to help me look good over the past two years. If it wasn't for you I probably would have said some things I shouldn't have said, so thank you for talking me off the ledge all those times that you did.

Hassan, truly I'm not even going to say one of, and anybody that's come into contact with you can attest to this, you are by far the greatest legal mind I have ever worked with. You have no idea how fortunate and how blessed this institution is to have you here. I don't know when the time will be but I cannot wait for the day I get to walk into your investiture to watch you go on the State Supreme Court or the Federal Court of Appeals.

Scott Hummel, it's very seldom that somebody gets to take on a position and they get to work directly with one of their mentors. For those who don't know, Scott was my predecessor's predecessor and when I first moved to Clinton County, Scott not only became a mentor but also a dear friend. I want to thank you for all the advice you've given me, remember you were the one who taught me how to be a good legislator as well as a good representative and I'll never forget that advice. Thank you so much for coming on board with this team.

Bill Stone, Speaker-Elect Chatfield has made an incredible decision to make you the next Policy Director. You too are an incredible legal mind, you are an amazing friend, and I want you to know what an incredible honor it's been to work with you. I cannot wait to see what you guys accomplish next year with you leading the charge in the Policy Office.

Rob Minard. Rob is one of the best messaging and political minds I've ever seen. I came to him a few years ago with a charge, I didn't know if he was going to take the job, but I wanted him to go over to our Constituent Relations Department and totally revamp it. He not only met the challenge, but he exceeded it abundantly. Another great decision Speaker-Elect Chatfield has made is making Rob your Chief of Staff. I know you are going to serve him very well.

Caitlyn and Ashley, I want to thank you so much for what you've done in the office being on the front lines answering those constituent calls, I know often that's the most difficult job in the office, thank you.

Zach Rudat, the same for Zach here, one of the hardest workers I know. Your future is so bright. The growth I've seen in you in the past couple years has been amazing, and Scott VanSingel has made a great decision to bring you on his team. I wish you the best of luck.

Larry Fauts, who's not here with us today, he was my first Constituent Relations staffer. As many of you know he's like a second father to me, I want to thank him.

Robbie Rankey, one of my dearest friends. Robbie thank you so much for coming back here from Boston. There's no way I could have asked to have had a better Campaign Manager. Thank you for everything you have done.

Kaylee Mead, for those of you who have met Kaylee Mead you know that it is impossible to have a bad day in the office when Kaylee's there. I don't think Kaylee has ever had a bad day, in fact, I asked her this afternoon, 'Kaylee, how many bad days have you had in your life?' She stopped, thought about it, and said 'I don't think I've ever had one. Annette Glenn, you're going to have a blast over the next six years with Kaylee in your office.

Brandy Nash, one of my dearest friends in the world, thank you for everything you have done for us and this caucus over the past two years. Brandy is probably going to be the happiest person after this speech because I want to set the record straight right now in front of everybody: Brandy Nash, you were our matchmaker, not Tom Barrett.

To the citizens of Clinton and Gratiot Counties, thank you so much for taking a risk and a chance on a kid who had only lived in the district 6 or 7 years. I couldn't be here without you.

To former Speaker Bolger, somebody who I probably gave more of a headache than anybody who's ever walked through this institution, but somebody who became a mentor of mine, somebody who I leaned on a lot from, and somebody who taught me much of what I know, thank you to him.

Andrea LaFontaine, my former seat mate who is one of my dearest friends.

A special thanks to our Governor, Rick Snyder. Governor, you campaigned nearly ten years ago on reinventing Michigan and you met that challenge. I want you to know what an honor and a blessing it has been to work with you. I want you to know what an amazing partner you have been, and I have no doubt in 50, 60, 70 years when you are gone, the state is going to look back at your eight years here in Michigan, and you will be a historical icon for this state because of the many tough decisions that you've made. I can't tell you how much of an honor it has been to be there with you these past two years. Thank you for everything that you have done.

The same with your partner Brian Calley, who's also been a dear friend and in, my opinion over the past eight years, has been the greatest Lieutenant Governor in this entire country. Brian, thank you for what you've done in this state as well.

To former Governor John Engler, who is a mentor of mine and has been there to give me so much advice along the way. For those who don't know the story, if it wasn't for John Engler I probably wouldn't have run for Speaker of the House. It is because of him that I stepped up to do this. I want to thank him for what he's done along the way.

Clerks Randall, Browne, and your staff, there are so many nights we are here until 9, 10, 11 o'clock sometimes 2 or 3 in the morning. We all go home, and you're all here for a couple more hours. Some of the hardest workers in this institution. I want to thank you, Clerk Randall in particular, I've never met anybody who cares about and loves this institution more than you do. When I was elected Speaker, the very first person I asked to stay on was Clerk Gary Randall. It's because of the love he has for this institution, I'm so glad to know you're going to be staying on for next term as well.

Chief Dickson and the Sergeants, I've said this so many times some of the most professional people I've ever worked with. Chief, thank you so much for keeping us safe, but most importantly thank you for your professionalism. You guys have been absolutely amazing.

To the press and to the media, I want to thank you for everything that you do. I'd like to think we've had a great relationship over the past two years. Not once can I say that you guys have ever steered me or treated me wrong. I want to thank you for the relationship that we've had.

A few members:

James Lower, it's been an incredible honor to share a county with you.

Representative Laura Cox, one of the greatest honors that I have had as Speaker of the House has been to appoint our first female Appropriations Chair in the history of our state. You've been an amazing one, thank you for all that you've done.

Jim Tedder, Aaron Miller, Triston Cole, all three of you have just been amazing friends. The loyalty that you've shown me, I can't tell you how blessed I've been. Thank you very much.

Rob VerHeulen, another amazing friend of mine, when I think of the word gentleman I think Rob VerHeulen. You've been an incredible friend and ally I want to thank you for all that you've done along the way as well.

Shane Hernandez, Jason Wentworth, two of my dearest friends here, I don't know what the future holds for both of you but two of the brightest people I know, and I know your futures are limitless. Best of luck as you move forward serving on Speaker-Elect Chatfield's leadership team.

Gary Glenn, still to this day, the greatest legislative experience, the most memorable moment inside this chamber was when you and I got to take that miracle photo. I love you buddy, thank you so much for the friend that you've been to me.

Dan Lauwers, you're an amazing Floor Leader. I have to tell you, it is very seldom you have a friend in your life that is as loyal and as special as you have been to me. I want to thank you for all that you've done for this institution, but most important, thank you for being my friend, you've been amazing.

Sam Singh, I know you mentioned something about how you hoped your word was your bond as you've served in this institution. Many people may not notice this about me, if you've ever taken a meeting with me, there's usually somebody else in the room. I'll be frank, sometimes in this city it is very difficult to trust people. One of the rules I've always had is when I take a meeting, there's going to be someone else in that room with me. There's only a handful of people I'm willing to take a meeting with alone, and you're one of them. You've been an incredible friend, somebody that I trust, somebody whose word is your bond, and you've never once steered me wrong. There's nobody else I'd rather serve with on that side of the aisle than you, and I want to thank you for your friendship and for what you've done for this institution.

Speaker-Elect Lee Chatfield, I don't know where to start. I could be here for 30 minutes talking about our friendship, our history, and everything you've done for me over the past four years. Just know this: I can't tell you what you and Steph have meant to our family. There is no way I could have gotten here without you, there is no way we could have accomplished the things we have if you hadn't have been right there by my side. You are going to be an incredible Speaker next term. I want you to know how much Jenell and I appreciate you, and what you've meant to our lives. Thank you.

And now is when it gets tough:

To my mom and dad, to the best of my knowledge, I'm the first person in our family that went to college. We were raised in a blue-collar family, where that was something that just didn't happen. When I decided to go to college and law school, mom and dad were right there with me every step of the way. They've been there every step of the way as I've decided to run for office or as I was a prosecutor. Something that you two instilled in me, I've never met two harder workers in my life. The work ethic you showed John and I growing up, there's no way I'd be standing here today if it wasn't for that. I want you two to know how much I love you and I thank you for everything that you've done.

To Jenell and Hannah, the two most incredible people in my life who have given so much. I know this probably applies to so many people in this room because of what our spouses go through in this business., I'm taking a line from Speaker Bolger's farewell speech four years ago: I want to apologize to the two of you for all the nights I wasn't home, but I want to apologize even more so for the times that I was home, but I wasn't there. You two have given up so much for me to do this. I cannot wait for us to adjourn here in a few more hours and be able to go home and be that daddy and husband that I haven't been able to be over the past two years. Thank you, and I love both of you so much.

I want to close with three quick things. There are so many things we've accomplish but I want to concentrate on just three briefly. The three things that I am so proud of that we've been able to accomplish we've been able to do so in a bipartisan fashion.

The first one has been putting together the C.A.R.E.S. Taskforce. As many of you know, this issue of mental illness is a big deal to me. It's something that's near and dear to my heart, and it's something that is not going to go away. We currently have a prison population where nearly 25% of those who are incarcerated suffer from some type of mental illness, and that does not include our jails. When they do, the cost of that inmate goes from nearly $38,000 per year to well over six figures. Let me be clear: jails and prisons ought to be for dangerous people, they ought not to be for sick people. I hope you will continue on with these mental health issues as you go forward over the coming years.

The second one was eliminating and getting rid of Driver Responsibility Fees. We all stood together and we made certain that happened. There's very few things we work on inside of this chamber that you can go home and meet someone and say 'that made a tangible difference in that person's life.' The fact that we all stood together to make certain that over 350,000 citizens in this state, 80,000 of them from the City of Detroit, will finally be eligible to get a Driver's License and get their lives back is a big deal. Every single person in this chamber ought to be proud of that.

And last, it wasn't a legislative accomplishment, but something we've all been able to do so together. If you may remember in my first speech, I challenged every person in this room, and I also challenged you to keep me accountable, we talk about bipartisanship, we talk about compromise, and those are good things. But to me, and in today's world, the one thing we have to talk the most about if the process is going to work and is going to function has to be that of civility. We can have our disagreements, we can have our arguments, but we should always do so in a respectful way that will enable us to come back together the next day to start focusing on the issues that matter most to the people of our state. While we haven't been perfect in this chamber, I think we've done a pretty good job showing the rest of the world how you can treat our colleagues on the other side of the aisle or even within our own party with respect. I want to challenge all of you to not only do that next term, but improve upon what we've done here over the past two years.

With that again I want to thank you all. This has been an incredible experience. We've accomplished so much, we've done so much, and we've done it together, and for that I want to thank you. God bless."

A resolution to declare December 21, 2018, as Children’s Savings Account Awareness Day in the state of Michigan.

Whereas, Children’s savings accounts (CSAs) are savings programs, similar to Individual Development Accounts (IDAs), sponsored by financial institutions and community based organizations, which offer behavior-based incentives and savings match opportunities to help families maximize their investments in their children’s futures. CSAs that are used to build up funds to pay for higher education expenses, especially at one of Michigan’s 15 public universities or 28 public community colleges, are instrumental in preparing young people for a stable economic future. Many institutions also offer financial coaching and other educational tools to help young people better understand financial markets and develop positive saving habits; and

Whereas, Approximately 450,000 children nationwide have a CSA that will help them build important assets for the future, such as a higher education. There are more than 80 CSA programs in operation across the country, with initial deposits and matches from funding sources such as community foundations, individual donors, businesses, and state, local and federal agencies. According to the Community Economic Development Association of Michigan, there are currently 6 operational CSA initiatives in Michigan, servicing at least 12,635 individuals over the last two years; and

Whereas, A strong partnership among community stakeholders such as schools, financial institutions and local units of government can create a strong framework for community collaboration and improved outcomes for students. Lansing Student Accounts Valuing Education (SAVE) is one example of a partnership between the City of Lansing, the Lansing School District, and MSU Federal Credit Union that automatically enrolls students in a CSA during their first semester of kindergarten and helps them build toward saving for future higher education expenses. In Barry County, the “Kickstart to Savings” program has also been exemplary in this arena, serving as the first universal, automatic, county-wide CSA program; and

Whereas, While children with dedicated higher education savings are four times more likely to complete a degree by age 26, CSAs are often underutilized by families who could benefit the most. When considering higher education graduation rates for low income students, the benefit of CSAs is apparent. Only 7 percent of low income students without a CSA graduate, compared to a 33% graduation rate for those who do. A recent publication from “Prosperity Now” shows disparities between race and income level for use of CSAs. Over 51 percent of CSA participants are white, 27 percent are Latino, and 11 percent are African American. Low-income and immigrant families are also less likely to be aware of CSA programs. Increasing awareness of CSAs and improving access for minority groups is an important step toward ensuring equitable outcomes for all of Michigan’s children; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That the members of this legislative body declare December 21, 2018, as Children’s Savings Account Awareness Day in the state of Michigan. We demonstrate our commitment to giving all of Michigan’s children the opportunity to pursue their dreams and goals, regardless of their financial beginnings.
