Senator Rick Jones of the 24th District offered the following invocation:

Heavenly Father, we ask You to watch over the work of the Senate and guide us to do the right thing for the people of Michigan.

We reach out today and ask You to help families that are struggling with a member who has a mental illness. Help them to find what they need to seek a cure before there is violence.

Lastly, Father, we ask You to watch over the men and women serving our great nation overseas in the military who are in harm's way every day.

In Jesus' name. Amen.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Calley, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Motions and Communications

Senators Hertel and Pavlov entered the Senate Chamber.

Senator Kowall moved that Senators Hansen and Knollenberg be temporarily excused from today's session. The motion prevailed.

Senator Kowall moved that Senator Nofs be excused from today's session. The motion prevailed.

Senator Hood moved that Senator Young be temporarily excused from today's session. The motion prevailed.

Senator Colbeck asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Colbeck's statement is as follows:

I have a very special introduction today. As many of us know, the good Senator from the 15th District has been having special ceremonies for Vietnam veterans across this state. It's a real privilege today to have one of those veterans here with me from my hometown of Canton, joined by our supervisor and his wife, as well as our Vietnam veteran's wife, Sonia. I would like for the Senate to indulge me, if I could, with a little bit of background and history to kick off today's session about one of our honored servicemen. His name is Bob Harris and I have grown to know him over my service here in the Senate. He has been active in our community and I want to give everybody an introduction into Bob and the fact that his service wasn't limited to Canton.

Robert—or Bob as I know him—was born in Perth Amboy, New Jersey on Raritan Bay, across from Staten Island. He was the oldest child. His family moved to a farm in Somerset County where they lived in a home built by a Dutch ship builder in 1741—yes, there are Dutch who live outside of Holland, Michigan—which Bob's dad had restored. After high school graduation, he chose to attend Duke University in Durham, North Carolina, partially because it was one of 52 universities that had a naval ROTC program. After he graduated in 1963, Bob did a Midshipman cruise out the amphibious base in Little Creek, Virginia on the USS Boxer, and traveled to the Virgin Islands where he had really tough duty on St. Thomas. He was commissioned as an ensign in July 1863, and passed all the requirements for Navy Air. However, he had to spend time in the USS Donner, also based in Little Creek, because there was a backlog of officers waiting to do pre-flight training in Pensacola. Bob graduated from the 16 weeks of pre-flight physical and classroom training in the best shape of his life. His class missed the last few days of pre-flight—which was survival training in the wilderness of the Florida pan handle—because of the November assassination of President Kennedy.

His oldest daughter, Heidi, was born in the Naval Hospital in Pensacola. During the first training squadron, issues developed. Bob said he would like to stay in aviation and had a choice of air intelligence or maintenance, and being a fellow gear head, he chose maintenance and was assigned to Attack Squadron VA-195 on the west coast. The squadron flew A-4 Sky Hawks and was based at the Naval Air Station in Lemoore, California.

After two surgeries, Bob joined the squadron in the Pacific. The squadron was part of an air wing which had two A-4 attack jet squadrons, two F-8 fighter jet squadrons, one A-1 squadron, and was based on the USS Bonhomme Richard. He was the Aircraft Division Officer, which meant that he had the jet engine, the air frame, and the hydraulics mechanics. Later he was assigned to the added responsibility of parachute riggers—which are responsible for the rocket ejection seats—and the supply group. Luckily as a 23-year-old kid, Bob had some great chief petty officers with years of experience. Bob was promoted to lieutenant junior grade in January 1965—about nine months before I was coming into this world.

After returning home, he was supposed to be shore-based for a year, but the Vietnam War was heating up. Because of a shortage of carriers, he headed out again four months later. The usual pattern was to operate off the coast of North Vietnam for 30 days, then off the coast of South Vietnam for a month, then rest and relaxation in the Philippines. He operated 24 hours a day, and the troops worked 12-hour shifts. Bob received a citation from the Commander-in-Chief Pacific Fleet because his squadron flew 2,280 combat missions during the cruise while maintaining 85 percent aircraft availability. Bob finished his active duty and earned his MBA at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. During this time, he was a weekend warrior at the Naval Air Station in Willow Grove, Pennsylvania, where he was promoted to full lieutenant. He was honorably discharged in 1974.

Bob moved to Michigan to start his career with the Ford Motor Company. After retiring from Ford, he worked at Johnson Controls and later for Independence Technology, a Johnson and Johnson company. He is married to Sonia, who he met in Brazil, and has three children—Heidi, who lives in Denver; Adam in New York City; and Elizabeth, the mother of his granddaughters, Samantha and Zoey, who live in northern California.

As you can tell, Bob's story is an American story. If you guys could help welcome him here to the Senate floor, I would really appreciate it.

Senator Knollenberg entered the Senate Chamber.

The following communication was received and read:

Statements

Senator Green asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Green's statement is as follows:

It is with a heavy heart that I approach the podium today. Yesterday, we lost a true American icon with the passing of "America's Pastor," Billy Graham. Billy Graham was 99 years old.

Graham had a reach unlike any other person. Not only did he counsel numerous American presidents, his words reached millions of people around the globe. His message of love and unity will surely live on through all of us here on the Senate floor today, and through all of his followers worldwide.

He was a champion of civil rights in America. He routinely denounced racism and segregation and often encouraged crowds at his rallies to join one another. He stood at the pulpit with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and even posted bail for the doctor in Birmingham, Alabama.

He was truly a man of God. In his nearly six decades, he never sought money, fame, or power; only to bring people back together again. He became “America’s Pastor” by accomplishing this goal through hope and prayer; black or white, Democrat or Republican, it did not matter to him.

His crusades and television and radio appearances brought the love of Jesus Christ into homes around the world. His final crusade took place in New York City in 2005, and in yet another display of his massive reach, the event was sponsored by 1,400 churches from 82 denominations, and some say it reached as many as 200,000 people in New York City. This goes to show just how widespread and widely accepted his messages were.

Reverend Billy Graham is a person whom we should all remember. He taught us to unite and care for one another despite social or political backgrounds. He was truly a man of the people and a man of God; and through the Bible and prayer, he changed the lives of countless people from all denominations.

I would like to close this morning with a quote from the Reverend himself. He said, “Someday you will read or hear that Billy Graham is dead. Don’t you believe a word of it. I shall be more alive than I am now. I will just have changed my address. I will have gone into the presence of God.”

A moment of silence was observed in memory of the Reverend Billy Graham.
