Father Ted Munz of the University of Detroit Jesuit High School of Detroit offered the following invocation:

All-powerful and ever-living God, You who are Lord of the universe and Lord of our lives, send us Your light on these short and dark December days. Send Your light across our state—from Copper Harbor to Coldwater, from Alpena to St. Joseph, and from Iron Mountain to Detroit.

Fill our hearts with the light of Your mercy that like You, we may judge the poor with justice and decide aright for the lands afflicted. Fill the lives of all the communities in our great state with the light of Your love so that all our families may live together in harmony and peace and bless Your name forever. Fill these Senators gathered here with the light of the spirit of wisdom and understanding—Your Spirit of counsel and strength—that they may serve Your people with kindness and compassion.

With gratitude and humility, we make this prayer in Your name, You who are Lord, forever and ever. Amen.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Calley, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Pavlov's statement is as follows:

I want to first thank Fred Schaible for being out of my way and allowing me my constitutional right to be at this podium.

What an honor. "A man's heart plans his way but the Lord directs his steps." The last three or four weeks, I've been tracking those steps and tracking them back many, many years. For the sake of brevity, understanding we all have something to do later today, I'm going back to 1973 because in 1973, it was my mother who got me interested in government. For those of you old enough to remember, that was the height of the Watergate hearings and trials during the summer. I have to believe that I was the only 10-year-old who would come in in the afternoon, spend time with my mom, and watch that unfold. My parents weren't political. My dad may have been to one township meeting, but they instilled in me the need to take an interest in what's happening around you. I never let up on that.

The benefits that I received from my mom in that took my into 5th grade where my Social Studies teacher, Mr. Hillier—both my son and daughter had the privilege to be in Mr. Hillier's class—he really helped us out. He had this thing called Current Events, and if you could talk about current events, you got out of school 15 minutes early, you could be the first one in line for the bus, and in the fall and the spring, those current event meetings took place outside. I was a regular reader of Time magazine and The Detroit News at that time, I was prepared. It also got me a spot on the Safety Patrol.

My mom had a saying that she always instilled in us, it was "Remember who you are and what you stand for." My dad had a little different spin on it, his was, "Set your alarm." When I put those two things together, that's the bedrock, that's the foundation that got me here. I'm not going to tell you how special it was to get here because all of you have been on the same journey. I'm not going to tell you how special my two kids are, Lindsey and Anson. I just want you to know that. Lindsey followed in the family business and has done some political work, she has worked on a congressional campaign, she worked in Washington, D.C., and is now doing marketing communications for an investment firm and she's doing fine. Anson, on the other hand, not so much, but I leaned on him in so many different ways. Anson and I's future together, in 2019, it's going to be his turn.

I remember back in the House—and I'm not going to spend a lot of time dwelling on our House days—they had that bring-your-kid-to-work thing, and they would come and get their t-shirts. It was a big day and I was proud to have my kids there. Driving home, Anson is a pretty creative kid, it only took him that one day hanging out in the House, to start to pick up the ability to imitate many characters over there. His first one was a guy who I respect, a guy who taught me a lot about media relations, and that's John Perry. If you get a minute, pick up Anson's distinctive voice in that imitation, it's just wonderful.

My sister, Deb, what a good stand-in. She's one of the few who understand how MERTS works. I put her through so many different campaigns and through so much stress. She's a perfectionist with that clunky software—as it's always been explained, everybody in here understands it. Now, she hasn't kept me out of the penalty box in every single one of those elections, but her heart was big enough to help me through all of that.

My sister-in-law, Heather, she never missed a parade, an event, or moving kids around. You know, I have to be careful what I say about campaign finance because I don't think she ever didn't bring 30 pounds of candy to the parades. Thank you, Heather. I'm also blessed to have two really cool nephews, Brandon and Collin. They're special because I didn't have to teach them how to protect the last name. I enjoy the back and forth with them. I put a saying on them—I always give credit when I get a good saying—and this credit goes to Senator Robertson. I told Brandon that some of these campaigns get very difficult, and you have to fight them and win them at the end of a broken whiskey bottle. I know that is circulating through Michigan State, he's probably used it 500 times, and I hope he footnotes David Robertson. David, that wasn't the best quote you ever had, the one about the glass eye—I will leave that right where it's at.

I want to thank—everybody has an entry into this business—and I want to thank the person who extended the offer to me and the opportunity to run for office, and that's Pat Acciavatti. The Acciavattis have a strong tradition in St. Clair County at the county board level. Pat Acciavatti's wife, Mary Ann was county chair. Mary Ann passed away early and Pat took over as county chair. Pat called me one day and said, "Hey, we want to get you on the county board." I immediately thought a county board was a job for old people, but I gave it some thought. He said, "Don't think too long because the filing deadline is tomorrow." I made the determination that I was in the right spot in my life to start this journey and it's been amazing.

Many of you know Pat's son, Dan Acciavatti, affectionately referred to as the Gymnast. I had no idea that there was another step beyond the county board of commissioners, and it didn't take long before we realized how the game worked. Danny ended up coming to Lansing at about the same time I came to the county board. We became friends. My path took me here and got us to 2005, when we came into the caucus and were assigned a mentor, and Danny was my mentor. I'm not convinced he was the perfect mentor for me at that time in my life, but it certainly was beneficial because he helped me understand and pick the lock that is the Legislature. Danny remained my mentor until one day, Danny and I who sat next to each other, were called in to the caucus room over in the House by then-Chief of Staff Jim Holcomb. I thought, "Hey, this is my big break, Jim is going to have me work on something special or I'm going to have a cool bill package to run." That was not the case. Holcomb said, "I need the room." He cleared out staff and as soon as that big door closed, "What the heck were you guys thinking?" Well, I never did tell Danny, but that was the time I released him as my mentor, but that's also the time he became one of my best friends.

I want to talk about central staff for just a minute. All of you work to fulfill the mission, thank you so much for what you do. You all have been thanked before, let me do that also. I want to single out a couple people. Anne Blankenhorn, we threw everything imaginable at you and you turned it around and perfected it. You worked it and you continue to support me, my office, and the entire education community in the state of Michigan. Thank you.

Bob Wilson, Bob isn't here anymore, but I think Bob Wilson is probably the most underutilized asset the state of Michigan has. I didn't know that until it was too late. When a proposed nuclear waste dump was talked about on the banks of Lake Huron, I sat down with Bob and we put together an unbelievable strategy. With every angle and facet that you could image, all the communications to back it up, but more importantly, 20 or 30 years' worth of knowledge as to how environmental policy works in the state of Michigan. He may not have stopped it, but we certainly got several years of delay.

Scott Hughes—wherever you are—if I'm ever held hostage, I want you negotiating my release. I learned more watching Scott operated on the retirement reform than I probably did from anybody.

Mike Ferland and his team of specialists, words like commitment, dedication, and service come to mind. So does trust. Mike, everybody has talked about you and your team, I suggest you use that political goodwill that is bundled up and maybe talk to the future Majority Leader Mike Shirkey and see if you can get him to reinstate those burgundy sport coats again.

Nobody has mentioned Governor Granholm, so let me be the first—if they have, I didn't pick it up. I'm not talking about Governor Granholm on CNN, I'm not talking about Governor Granholm at the Democratic National Convention, but I am talking about the Governor Granholm who tapped me on the shoulder and agreed to do a bill signing for a family back home who lost their daughter to a drug overdose. She did that on this young lady's birthday, and it still means everything to this family in October.

Alright, back to staff again. My staff, my team. Zoe Harness, I didn't have you for long, I didn't get to know you as well as I would have liked, but you have shined for us. I don't know everything that you have done, the summer was long, we didn't spend a lot of time here, but a clear indication is: If I don't have to deal with it, you probably have already taken care of it. Thank you.

Justin Huffman—oh boy—Justin came to me from Michigan State as an intern. Interns come and go, we're not always in the office, but I was told we had somebody from the district. "OK, great." I knew Justin's parents very well, I got to know Justin, and he did a great job. He then volunteered to work on my 2014 reelection campaign, and we've been together ever since. Thank you, Justin.

David Raney, my chief of staff currently, David is going to be around for a while. You may recognize him by his tall frame and his fedora, but sooner or later you're going to recognize him for his abilities—he's going to shine. Thank you, David.

Recent past members: Brad Wever—I think I see you up there, Brad, I see your whiskers. Brad came to me and I had his service for a year. Brad replace Brenda Resch. I don't want to say it was a perfect slot, but it almost was. Brad's knowledge of public education, school of choice, and the overall workings of the Legislature served me well. I didn't have him long but my conversation with Brad from the beginning was, "We want to keep you moving." He's been moving and he's going to keep moving. Adam Skubik—no relation to Tim—John Brooks, Kevin Gardner, Laura Hayes, Matt Evans, Rami Haddad, Megan Richardson, and Kristen Turnbull—all great people who helped me through the process.

And then there's Brenda. Hey Brenda. I figure if I talk fast enough, I won't get caught up in it, but we will see how that goes. I got to know Brenda when she was in the House Republican Policy Office as the education advisor back in 2008 or 2009. At the time, I knew she was married to our communications guy, Matt Resch, but I didn't know much more about that. How quickly that changed. There was a vacancy on the Education Committee and I asked then-Leader Kevin Elsenheimer if I could have that spot, he thought I was crazy, but I knew there was enough support me where I could go in there in learn. I knew the level of support and knowledge around that issue could give me a potential opportunity to lead that, and it came with Brenda. Many of you have had direct dealings with Brenda, I don't think I have to apologize for any of the things she has done because she has done them with sincerity, with thoroughness, and with a strong hand. We could get into an argument with Senator Booher and Senator Hansen about who had the best chief of staff. It's a fool's errand, I got it. As I'm looking at Pete, Goeff, he wasn't that good. Maybe for you but not for me. Brenda, thank you, and by extension, thank your husband. You all know Matt, he has worked with us, he's worked around town, and he's a brilliant strategist. I have to believe that no matter what I was paying Brenda it was only half of the job I was getting in return. Brenda and Matt positioned me with media in ways I never even knew were possible. They positioned me with the strongest policy argument and they positioned me with loyalty. A hard combination to replicate. Thank you, thank Matt, and thank your kids.

Now to our members. Leader Meekhof, bear with me because after that last meeting we had about an hour ago, I have to change my remarks. Can I get back to you? That's a tough dude right there and I don't think it's personal. In fact, I know it's for the benefit of this institution. It's been said by other members but one of the greatest privileges I've had is to be able to have full control of my committee, the decisions, and the bills that come and go in there. That was always the case, up until an hour ago. But thank you, I respect you, and you've done a great job leading this caucus.

The other leader, Senator Ananich, listen up. Yesterday we heard from Senator Knezek about a change in personnel on the Education Committee. I want to thank you for being proactive and reaching out to me to help me get rid of Senator Knezek. I know that could have potentially caused you a lot of grief within your caucus, but you stuck with it and you gave me Senator Hopgood. What a trade.

Senator Knezek, you have always been one step ahead of me—I shouldn't say always because you were 24 hours ahead of me yesterday in breaking this news—but you and I will see each other again. We may be sparring over public policy or foreign policy, but we will be at it again.

Senator Casperson, seven years, eleven months, two weeks, and six hours I was the vice chair on Natural Resources. Never once did you let me hold that gavel until yesterday, and it was for something that you needed. We've dealt with everything from wolves to wetlands to weight limits to gravel pits to bottomlands to PILT property rights, timber mining, flooding, frozen pipes, copper, iron ore, rail, EPA, shipping, ballast water, it never ended. It was your agenda, and I was happy to support it. Not always the easiest votes, I only hope in the remaining week left that I can get at least one out of you. Thank you, buddy.

Senator Booher, by far, the most prepared Senator I've ever worked with, right up until this week. That may be a reflection of staff, but I think it's a reflection of you, and the seriousness with which you take your job. I want to thank you for visiting my district, for helping me after almost 14 years to get a Capital Outlay project for my community college. I want to thank you for that. I had no expectations, but in the back of my mind I was hoping that there could be potentially an honorary associates degree coming from SC4 for me. That didn't happen, but that's not on you.

Senator Knollenberg, you and I shared something with our fathers—dementia. You helped me unlock a pathway to my dad by explaining to me how you communicated with your father. Thank you.

Senator Green, it's been a pleasure working with you and it's been a pleasure working with your son. Redistricting happened almost five years ago, and you don't represent Huron County anymore. Go away.

Senator Hune, we're going to hear from you later, but one of the most profound things I ever got out of you, well, probably two things—when the departments aren't listening, send them a letter. And then years ago, when I first met Joe, working around, we had a conversation about how to raise money in this town, how to position yourself, and Joe had some really good advice. I didn't take it, but I heard it and I remembered it. That advice was, "I don't take on monopolies." Thank you for that, Joe.

Senator Hansen, it's been a pleasure being on your K-12 subcommittee. I wanted to always give you the impression that you were making the calls. You have passion, it came a little bit after my entry into education, but you proved knowledgeable, committed, and passionate about public education.

And now to my bookends, Senator Hildenbrand and Senator Proos. You guys don't know this, but when I came here in 2005, I was way behind the curve. So I started looking at the landscape to see who's doing what, who knows what, and quite frankly, who can help me the most to adjust to something that I was not ready for. I mentally picked you two. I never told you that because I thought that the free-flowing knowledge may not come, but I watched everything that you guys did. I watched how you operate, I watched how you run your families, and I watched how you run your offices. I've leaned into both of you guys, without you knowing, and it's helped me. Many of you may or may not know, me and Proos have been sitting next to each other for a long time. We even sit next to each other in caucus. I always believed that you were who you hung around with, and I feel that I'm more rounded because of you guys.

Senator Hildenbrand, I want to thank you for an opportunity that you gave me that I wasn't expecting, and it was done in such a smooth way. We had just come into the Senate, we're going through our leadership elections, we're at the long conference table, and it came time for nominations for assistant floor leader. Remember that? All the chairs are in a row, Hildy's a couple doors down from me, it came to open nominations, he moved his shoulder back about three inches, looked at me, and he nominated me, right there. I had no idea that I'd ever have an opportunity to serve on a leadership team. Thank you for that. Now that led to a real awkward conversation with the new Senate Majority Leader, Randy Richardville, that started out sort of like, "Hey Randy, congratulations, I was with you the whole time." Thank you for that opportunity. It was a pleasure. Now at the time, I didn't know if I was even invited to leadership meetings, I wasn't a part of that thing.

Anyway, that's where we're at today, that's where my footsteps have taken me. I look at this chamber, and I don't see a mitten. I see a square box. After 8 years in here, this is what Michigan looks like. You, each and every one of you, whether you are a member or staff, you are a window into your district. I will probably never know more about this state after next Thursday, than I do on next Thursday. I don't know if I'll ever have a job like this again, where we start with a prayer, and the Pledge of Allegiance, and I know I'll never have this window again.

Jack, as I was looking over the state of Michigan, I saw the highest point in it, and there you are with that red tie on. Jack, your help in my congressional race was amazing, but it wasn't like it didn't come with a challenge. The challenge was, how do you take a picture with a guy that's 6'5"? And how do you get that on a piece of lit into Macomb County without looking so small? Jack, I'm going to disclose this in the event that someday you find out, but there may be a few photoshopped pictures of you and me floating around. There may be one of me just a little bit taller than you, and don't blame me, it was Anson who did that. I told Anson, "You gotta make me a little bit bigger." He said, "Dad, you're not that big!" I responded, "Just a little bit bigger, a little bit bigger, make me at least even with him." And he said, "Dad, he's gonna kill you if he sees this." Thank you, Jack, it's greatly appreciated.

Thank you all for being part of this journey, I'm glad to share it with you. I'm fulfilled. I'm as happy to be leaving this with you as I was when I came in. God bless you all.

Senator Meekhof offered the following resolution:

Senate Resolution No. 213.

A resolution of tribute for the Honorable Joe Hune.

Whereas, It is a privilege to recognize Senator Joe Hune as he concludes his service in the Michigan Senate; and

Whereas, Senator Hune attended Lansing Community College and Michigan State University and has a bachelor's degree from Cleary University. An active member of the Livingston County Farm Bureau and 4-H youth programs, he raises livestock and exotic animals on his family farm; and

Whereas, Joe Hune's experience in the legislative process began as a page in the House of Representatives and continued as a journal clerk. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 2002 and served six years prior to being elected to the Michigan Senate in 2010. For the past eight years, he has served the residents of the Twenty-second District, comprising Livingston and parts of Washtenaw counties, with pride and competence; and

Whereas, Senator Hune served with distinction on several committees, including as chair of the committees on Insurance and Agriculture, as vice chair of the Health Policy Committee, and as a member of the Energy and Technology and the Regulatory Reform committees. He also was the chair of the Redistricting Committee in his first term with the Senate. He has introduced legislation to support farmers, strengthen public assistance programs, and create transparency in health care costs; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That we offer this expression of tribute to commend and thank the Honorable Joe Hune for his notable contributions to this legislative body and to our state; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Senator Hune as evidence of our gratitude and best wishes.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations,

Senator Kowall moved that the rule be suspended.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

The resolution was adopted by a unanimous standing vote of the Senate.

Senator Kowall moved that rule 3.204 be suspended to name the entire membership of the Senate and the Lieutenant Governor as co-sponsors of the resolution.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

Senator Hune asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Hune's statement is as follows:

I wanted to speak from this microphone today because after the last few years of watching Senator Hertel speak from here, I assumed and figured out it's the loudest microphone in the room.

Let me get the most emotional stuff out of the way. In addition to the good Lord above, who better to have by my side during life in public service than Marcia Hune? You all know her, you all love her, and you all wonder why on earth she chose me. Well, I do too. Marcia worked for Chris Ward and I thank him every day that he told Marcia that dating me was a condition of employment. He always said it was his biggest legislative achievement and looking at his liberal voting record, the lib was right. Love you, Marcia, and of course our three-year-old son Alex.

My folks have also been my biggest advocates and defenders and I love them for that also. In the Hune family, the election efforts are a family affair. It was 20 years ago I walked into this Capitol, fresh off the farm, didn't own a pair of dress pants, didn't even know how to tie a tie. It was 1998 and I was going to college and I wanted to be a chicken farmer. Then I applied to be a page for the House of Representatives and when I received the call from the House human resources department that I was hired, they said I had to report the following Monday to Chief Sergeant-at-Arms Jack Porn. I said, "Can you please repeat that name?" And the lady on the phone said, "It's Jack Porn." I still was a little unclear and I asked for the spelling. Jack Porn turned out to be an incredible boss and he introduced me to the Clerk of the House, Gary Randall, who is one of my closest friends, and Gary hired me to work for him for a few years. Then, we were having burgers late one night after a late-night session at Bonnie's up the road here, and Gary talked me into running for the State House and I was 21. He drew out my victory strategy map on a placemat and I blindly jumped into the race. In the wee hours following my first primary election, the wee hours of the night and the next morning, I was announced the loser of my first election to the State House by one vote. Then there were some issues with vote tallies and about a week later, I was announced the loser by two votes. We sucked it up, filed for a recount, and thank the Lord above, we hired John Pirich and ended up winning my first election to the State House after the recount by two votes. I've since called John Pirich one of my godfathers. Through my tenure here, I've had the opportunity to have a team that I consider family. Stacey Murray, as you folks know, Stacey was always a hoot. Scott Kempa, who moved on to the State House. Former Representative Cindy Denby was on Team Hune from the get-go. She was always instrumental in getting me elected to the Legislature. Sam Champagne whom many of you know here in the Senate, who I actually met when his bull was running through my parents' neighborhood. That's no joke. He was our moral compass in the office. We've had Anthony Camarda, who's going to go on to do great things. Theresa Grace, who will be watching over the citizens of the 22nd District in the coming years under my good friend, Senator-elect Lana Theis. Amy Shaw, you folks know Amy, was actually my boss in Gary Randall's office. She's been a fabulous teammate and friend. And of course, Troy Tuggle, who's always got a smile on his face—oh, that's the first one this year. Troy is always quick to tell me when I look like crap, which seems to be every day. Thank you all for your partnership.

Dr. Vaupel in the State House is another person who believed in me and helped me get through just about every election and I thank him for that. I also need to mention my friends Steve and Dawn Horton. They own our local newspaper, the Fowlerville News and Views, and I love them, they're family, and I appreciate all they do for our hometown.

We've tackled a ton of issues during my tenure in the Legislature but the one issue that I'm most proud of that may not have received the most headlines was an issue when I was in the State House that we worked on with former Representative/Senator John Gleason, and that was dealing with organ donation. Senator Hood will appreciate this evermore with his experience. At that time, there was a problem in the organ procurement process where medical examiners across the state would perform an autopsy in a manner that would not allow the organs to be donated in a proper manner to a worthy recipient. At that time, we moved a bill through the whole Legislature. It was sitting on Governor Granholm's desk and what that bill did was force our county medical examiners to coordinate their efforts so that when they did perform an autopsy on an individual who has died, that autopsy had to be done in a manner that would allow Gift of Life to receive those organs and transplant them to a worthy recipient. The bill was sitting on Governor Granholm's desk and John Gleason barged into my office and said, "We need to get that bill signed." I said, "What's the story?" Blah blah blah. He said that a child in Saginaw County has just passed away from sudden infant death syndrome. The county medical examiner at the time wanted to perform the autopsy in a hurry and get off to his golf vacation up north for the weekend. Needless to say, we went into action, go the Governor to sign the bill immediately—Governor Granholm, I thank you for that—it was enrolled with the Secretary of State's office, filed there, literally within a few minutes, and it was like an episode of ER. The county medical examiner was literally just about to perform the autopsy and the Gift of Life organization showed him that they have to coordinate their efforts. He stopped the autopsy and, needless to say, that baby's GI tract was able to be transplanted into another baby. The baby's kidneys actually at that time were transplanted to an adult and the baby's two kidneys were functioning as one kidney in an adult. Then, we did a follow-up bill that we worked on with somebody else whose name is escaping me. We were able to rename the Gift of Life law act after the child who passed away, and it's called Kyle Ray Horning's law. That, despite everything we've done here, that was probably my crowning achievement because we have literally saved lives with that.

I've made a whole lot of friends in this town that I hope will last a lifetime, and it seems like my closest friends are characters. You may have noticed that Amber McCann has been a usual presence on the Senate floor near my desk and we're usually laughing—little did each and every one of you know, we were laughing about all of you, but mostly about Craig Ryan. My best friend in this institution of the Legislature was, of course, Virgil Smith. Today I was going to call Virgil my partner in crime, but I decided against it. Chris Ward, if anybody knew Chris, loved him. He was another dear friend. Chris and I were sitting on the House floor one day and I was frustrated with the deficiencies of a couple of our colleagues. He looked at me and said, "Joe, look around at all our colleagues. Everyone deserves representation." That was a darn good line. Former State Representative and Liquor Control Commissioner Ed Gaffney is another lifelong friend whom I grew to love in this institution, and we still keep in contact. My favorite Ed Gaffney quote is, "The two best qualities you can find in a mate are low self-esteem and no sense of smell.” Other former lawmakers that I’m happy to call my dear friends are Deb Cherry, Barb Farrah, Fred Dillingham—a name from the past—Bruce Patterson. In fact, Bruce Patterson was always good at giving me lessons, but one lesson in particular that I learned from Bruce Patterson is that an upper lip can have a bad hair day.

In this chamber, I’ve been blessed to call so many of you my friends. To my two seatmates on either side of me, Senator Warren, you are the most studious legislator in the Capitol, and I mean that. It’s been an honor to represent Washtenaw County with you. To any returning member and staff, it would be wise to mimic what “R Dubya’s” constituent relations shop and processes are because they’re second to none. They’re unbeatable. To my seatmate on the other side of me, Jack Brandenburg, it’s not that I had to wrack my brain to come up with a story about Jack Brandenburg. It’s that I had to wrack my brain to come up with a story about Jack that was appropriate for MGTV. The first was when we were talking and conversing about endorsing Donald Trump for President. I’ll never forget this line. Jack said to me, “You know why I don’t like Ted Cruz?” I said, “Why’s that, Jack?” He goes, “Because I don’t like his face.” Amen. But shortly after that, we were at a Trump rally in Macomb County in front of 10,000 people and Jack threatened to beat up Congressman Paul Mitchell.

Judy Emmons, you’ve been one great partner in both chambers and you’ve watched my family grow up. But the interesting thing about the public’s perception of this town is that we think we all come together, come to Lansing, and hate each other, but nothing could be further from the truth. Despite being a very conservative person, I’ve always befriended the Democratic Leader. Dianne Byrum is a dear friend. Governor-elect Whitmer, whom I shared Ingham County with, I consider a dear friend, which leads me to another dear friend. The only man I know who walks around with barbecued ribs in his suit pockets just in case he gets a craving. My dear friend, Democratic Leader Jim Ananich. He’s a man after my own heart and my own taste buds. He’s a fellow insomniac whom I can text at all hours of the night and get a response, but it’s not big policy issues that keep each of us awake at night. It’s usually just indigestion. He has now taken over the chairmanship of the Big Boy Supper Club, but this is the honest to God’s truth. What you may not know about Jim Ananich is that he used to be a competitive swimmer. Serious. I’m serious. Jim, it’s a shame we’ve become so close in my last year or two in office, but it’s been fun and I love Mulcrone as well.

To Hoon-Yung Hopgood, I appreciate your chattiness and your friendship. Senator Dave Robertson, you’re a man who can filibuster a haiku. You’re always animated and you always charge forward with conviction. On a complex issue, you require so much extra work and handholding, even though I always knew you were going to be with me at the end of the day. Senator Wayne Schmidt, you might be a little bit like that too. But, looking back, I’m thankful. Thankful because your handwringing forced me to sharpen my arguments and ultimately made me a better lawmaker.

To the rest of our colleagues who have served on the Senate Insurance Committee and the Senate Agriculture Committee, thank you for your partnerships. And as to the members who served on the Senate Redistricting Committee, if you got subpoenaed, it wasn’t my fault. It comes with the territory. I think that I hold the record for the most vetoes under Governor Snyder, and I also hold the record for the most subpoenas in the Legislature. But with all those subpoenas comes a whole lot of time spent with Scott Hughes. Scott, I appreciate your counsel, wherever you’re at, and your friendship.

Stephanie McGuire, Sarah Smock, and Malcolm have all been great policy staff to work with and we’re all better served by their efforts.

To our friends standing out on the black-and-white tiles—like Mark Cook, Shelly Stahl, Chris Kraft, Deidra Wilson, Adrian Cazal, Joe Sproles, Kurt Berryman, Steve Young, Bill Zaagman, Alan Smith, and so many others—you’ve become like family to me over the years.

Incoming Majority Leader Shirkey, you’ll do a great job next term and you’ll do even better if you keep Alisha and Amber close. To my Senate Republican leadership, Senator Kowall, my floor leader, you’ve been a great, steady hand and your wife always reminds me of the time I asked her if Dave Biswas tucks you in at night. He is your shadow and I still have not received an answer to that question. To my Leader Meekhof, I’d periodically send you a text and say thank you for being a great leader. Arlan, thanks for being a great leader. I really mean those words, and I’m not just sucking up. Although we still need to get something done for horse racing.

Thank you to the people of Livingston, Ingham, Shiawassee, and Washtenaw counties. Thanks for your trust in me. It’s been a great ride. Thank you.

Senate Resolution No. 214.

A resolution of tribute for the Honorable Rick Jones.

Whereas, It is a great honor to congratulate Senator Rick Jones as he brings to a close his tenure in the Michigan Senate. Senator Jones has been a tireless and devoted advocate for the people of the Twenty-fourth District and the entire state of Michigan; and

Whereas, Senator Jones graduated from Michigan State University with a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and then spent more than 30 years working in law enforcement. He started as a deputy in the Eaton County Sheriff's Office, working up to sergeant, lieutenant, and captain, before being elected sheriff in 2000. Four years later, he was elected to the first of three terms in the Michigan House of Representatives; and

Whereas, Senator Jones has been one of the most prolific lawmakers of his era, sponsoring more than 150 public acts during his time in the Legislature. While he has worked on nearly every major issue during that time, he has been a leader on issues related to criminal justice and the judiciary while in the Senate, chairing the Judiciary Committee for eight years. Senator Jones has also been the vice chair of the Redistricting Committee and the Regulatory Reform Committee and served on the Energy and Technology; Health Policy; Insurance; and Families, Seniors, and Human Services committees. He has also served in leadership as both the Majority Caucus Chair and Assistant Majority Caucus Chair; now, therefore, be it

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

Senator Jones asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Jones' statement is as follows:

I grew up in Battle Creek. I met my wife at age 17 while working at the Post House Restaurant where I cleaned the bathrooms, mopped the floor, washed the dishes. My future wife was a cook. We were owned by Greyhound and it was at I-94 and Helmer Road. It was a stop for all the busses between Detroit and Chicago. During that time, I began to date her and we were married at age 20. Now, originally, I left for college thinking I was going to go into psychology but I worked at that restaurant for four years and I kept getting ripped off. So I talked to a lot of the police and decided that I wanted to go into that for a career, and they talked me into transferring from Western to Kellogg Community College, getting a two-year degree; at that time a lot of police had no degrees. Then I worked for Albion College Public Safety. As soon as I turned 21, I got a job with Eaton County as a 21-year-old newlywed. During my time with Eaton County, I was shot at twice, I stopped an armed robbery, I faced butcher knives, I was certainly assaulted many times by people who were high on drugs, but I never shot anybody. I always talked them down. I was very grateful that I didn't have to make that decision.

After 27 years, I decided I was unhappy with the incumbent sheriff. There was a lot of nepotism, and there were, in my opinion, things done unfairly, so I decided I was going to run against an incumbent sheriff. Everybody said I had no chance of winning. I won quite easily. Then I went on to run the Eaton County Sheriff's Department. During that time, I tried to do things a little more innovative, like turning off cable TV in the jail because I found when you only gave inmates the Discovery Channel, they actually would go to school or they'd go to AA or substance abuse—they'd go to self-help programs instead of sitting around watching cartoons or football or basketball, and it was quite successful. Also during that time, I had the Pottersville train derailment—a train that had five leaking propane cars next to a tank of sulfuric acid. They told me one spark and the city of Pottersville would be gone, so I had to evacuate the entire city. Probably one of the biggest evacuations ever in Michigan history. As I came out of my command post that I had just set up, I walked out and saw 12 TV antennas and that was my baptism under fire. I was on national TV for a week. That taught me a lot.

As I neared the end of 30 years of service in police work—almost 31—people started asking me to run for the House of Representatives. "We really need you to go to the House." "We've got a Representative who's made a lot of people unhappy because she seems to talk about doves all the time." She was really into that and that was fine, but they really wanted somebody who would talk about other things. So, I ran for the House. I won and served three terms, and then to the Senate for two terms.

I want to commend my staff for all of their hard work, because I'm a hard taskmaster. I want things done. You know, as a new Representative, I had two brand-new employees and they were doing great, but I found out on the third month, they started walking on eggshells. I said, "What's going on?" They said, "Don't you know that after three months, that's usually when people get fired." I said, "Really?" "Yeah. You see two Sergeants walking down the hall with a box and that means somebody is being fired." I said, "I guarantee you right now, you're working for me, when you see two Sergeants with a box, they will never be coming for you." I made that promise to every employee I had. I will never treat you like that because I was a sheriff and I did hiring and firing and I understand how to treat people.

My chiefs, four of the hardest-working chiefs in Lansing—Cana Garrison, Jason Wadaga, Sandra McCormick, and Jess Averill. They had great work ethic because they had to. They were working for me. They took work home on the weekend, they took work home at night, and I want to thank them for all those efforts. The only problem I had is that they worked so hard, everybody in Lansing constantly tried to hire them away, and that's ok. I'm glad they were successful. The first three went to great jobs and I'm sure Jess also will be going to one in January.

Also during that time, I hired four National Guard. It was a little tough in the office when people got called up to duty, but I'm very glad for that experience. Each one of these wonderful individuals who are serving our country with wonderful, wonderful service.

As a former sheriff, I went right to work in the House. I thought it was expected. I really didn't understand that I was a freshman. During my time in the House, it was under Governor Granholm—one term in the majority and two terms in the minority—I passed 36 bills and got three vetoes. But, I was never—not even once—given a bill signing. I would request a bill signing. Governor Granholm would never grant it. I really didn't know why. I really didn't. So later, in the Senate, I was fortunate to talk to one of her former inner-office staff, whom I will not name, who said, "Don't you know why Granholm hated you?" I said I really don't. He says, "Let me look. Let me start. First, you told everybody she was building a boondoggle down the street for the Michigan State Police Headquarters. You pointed out that it was a no-bid deal for a friend and it shouldn't have happened." Ok, I understand that. "Then, you told everybody about her transferring money from the School Aid Fund away from K-12 to community colleges, and then backing it out and putting it in the General Fund. Stealing from the kids. That didn't make her happy." "Then, she decided she was going to call the Christmas tree a holiday tree. You called a news conference out in front of the tree and demanded that it be called a Christmas tree. You even got a headline from somebody who said you saved Christmas." She wasn't happy about that. "Then, somehow, you found out the Michigan Department of Corrections had improperly released sex offenders—dozens and dozens of sex offenders—too early." They hadn't completed their term. He says, "Somehow, you put out a release and it got global media.” In fact, I remember one of the headlines, and I’m quoting. I don’t use this terminology. “Assemblyman Jones says the Michigan prison system is all cocked up.” That was from London, England. He says, “Then, you went on and right before she quit, when the state was in dire need of money, you pointed out to everybody that we were wasting $300,000 on Daniel Mulhern’s office and staff and car and everything and it wasn’t needed.” I said, “Ok, I guess I understand now why she was upset.” He says, “Rick, that’s not the end of it. In her last two years of office, she’d get three reports every day—this is what the Senate did, this is what the House did, and this is what the flamethrower did, and that was your nickname.” I said, “Really? If I’d only known that, I would have turned up the heat.”

My last two terms in the House, I served in the minority and I was treated pretty badly by the Democratic floor leader, constantly saying, “You know, if you vote for this, we’re going to run your bills. We’re going to do this and that for you.” It never happened. So my final speech in the House was “I leave the minority and I’m going to the majority,” and I will never, ever treat a Democrat as I have been treated in the minority. I think I’ve kept that pledge. I have worked with, I believe, nearly everybody on the other side of the aisle. Some of us in packages of bills, and some by simply assisting you with your common-sense bills getting them into law. I remember one with Coleman Young. He had a bill for Detroit female police officers. What was happening is that if you got injured off-duty as a male officer—maybe you’re playing basketball at home with your kids and you broke your ankle—you got light duty, but if you were a female officer and you became pregnant, you had to burn your vacation time and your sick time, and then you lost your job. Coleman, I was happy to assist you in passing that bill.

Another bill I worked on was probably for the most liberal member of our body, Rebekah Warren. She has put in a bill simply giving women the right to breastfeed in public. What was happening was that we had stores right here in my area that might be 20 degrees below zero and a woman would be modestly breastfeeding her baby with a blanket over her, honestly, and they would still throw her out into the parking lot to freeze, or they’d make her go into a bathroom. Why was I angry? I was angry, and I said, “Rebekah, if you want, I’m going to help you pass that.” And we did. We did. The messaging I used on that was, “Would you eat your lunch in a bathroom?” You know, why wouldn’t Republicans support healthy babies? And we do. I bet it’s the only bill Rebekah ever had that was endorsed by Right to Life of Michigan.

Now, my House district was kind of tough. It goes back and forth. At one point, Democrats’ staff told me, “We’re studying you. We can’t figure out why you keep winning elections. Even in the Obama wave, we drove around and saw Jones signs next to Obama. Why do Democrats vote for you?” Of course, I didn’t help them. But today, I’m going to reveal that secret. The reason is that my wife hates coffee, so each and every day, I get up at 5:30 and say, “How much fun can I have today?” and I have coffee with constituents. Sometimes I pick up a senior who can’t drive or one senior’s blind. We go to coffee and we talk about issues, we talk about all the different things we’re doing down here, and I can tell you that for me, it really works. I can recall in the House, Chris Ward came up to me one time. This was as a freshman. He was angry at me because I wasn’t always voting the party line. He said, “Dammit, Jones, you’re not a Republican. You’re a damn populist.” I said, “Thank you Chris, but actually what I am is a common-sense Republican who knows how to get re-elected. I vote my district.”

I found another great way to stay connected to people is volunteering my time. My parents taught me—my dad is a World War II veteran, he’s 90—if you’re healthy, you should be donating your time and helping people, and if you don’t, shame on you. I took that to heart. For a decade, I served Meals on Wheels. For two decades, I volunteered for the Special Olympics, sometimes taking the athletes up to CMU for the Summer Games and staying with them for three days, and sometimes jumping into cold water. I want to thank everybody who helped me either by jumping or by donating to the Special Olympics for the seven Polar Plunges we’ve done in front of the Capitol. I’ve done nine for the Special Olympics, and I can tell you it’s a lot tougher when you chop a hole in the ice and jump in the lake than it is out here in the pool of water, but they’re all cold.

Another thing that I did at my parents’ urging was to start donating blood at an early age. Why not? If I’m healthy and I’m O-negative and I can help somebody, I think that’s what I should do. I haven’t quite reached my goal. I want to reach 24 gallons for the 24th District, but I’m at 23 and a half and I’ve got a lot of scars to prove it. Occasionally I come in with bandages and gross out my chief.

But, probably the volunteer work that I’ve done that most affected me was being a volunteer for my community hospice for two decades. They just made me the president of the board two weeks ago. Before we had a hospice house, we would go out and sit with a dying person so their family could get out for respite because some people just get trapped, they have a mom or dad or spouse who’s dying and they need respite. I can tell you that I have learned more from those dying people than probably anybody. Some people are able to talk right up to the end and they tell you what’s really important in life when their life is almost over. One of the more interesting assignments I got, I knocked on the door one night and the chairwoman of the Eaton County Democrats opened it up—Rosemary DiPonio—and said, “Rick, what are you doing here?” I said, “Well, I’m a volunteer and I’m going to sit with your mother.” She couldn’t believe it, so she served me a cup of coffee. It said, “Democrats Coffee Cup,” and I sat in her living room under a sign that said “Only Democrats Allowed in this Home,” and I watched her mother so she could get out of the house and go to an MSU game. I did that several times. While we were on opposite sides of the aisle, we both realized it’s not about being a Democrat or a Republican, it’s about serving people.

I worked on many great bills on the Republican side of the aisle, and I appreciate all of your help in getting a lot of these things done. Back in the House, we passed a law that you have the right to defend yourself from rape or death. Simple concept. A simple concept we should have learned from 1925 when in Detroit, people were going to lynch Dr. Ossian Sweet, and that was called the castle doctrine at that time—a man's home is his castle—and today, it's wherever you legally can be, you have the right to defend yourself. I think that's an American right. I'm surprised we had to codify it into law but, you know, we have some judges who said, "Well, somebody breaks into your house, you should retreat to your bedroom and call 9-1-1 and maybe hide under the bed." No, you have the right to defend yourself, your spouse, your children, and your family.

The most shocking bill was with Goeff Hansen I can still feel the sting of that Taser.

The veterans bills were so important, so important to our veterans. I had a man who just got done serving in Iraq, came into my office crying, and I said, "Sir, sit down. Let's talk. What's the problem?" He said, "Well, I'm in the National Guard and for five years, I've had 50-50 custody of my son, my ten-year-old son, and I got called up and I came back and the Ingham County Friend of the Court has taken away my custody. They said 'You abandoned your son.'" I said, "That can't be true." I called up the Ingham County Friend of the Court and the people I talked to said, "Well yeah, we really don't like those people in uniform." I was a little angry. That bill passed unanimously and we restored veterans' rights. Another one happened, more recently. We had a sailor serving in a nuclear submarine. He couldn't be in court, so the Michigan judge was going to put out a warrant for his arrest. We took care of that. Thank you. One of the other recent ones was that we had the Liquor Control Commission decide that if you were a member of a VFW post or an American Legion post, you were only a member of your home post. You had no right to visit other ones, even though that had been the practice for 50 years. Thank you for helping me fix that.

We had police officers in the state who were allowed to quit, hop to another job, and get in trouble at department after department. The media called it the Gypsy Cop Law or the Bad Cop Law. Thank you for helping me strengthen law enforcement in this state to make sure that every department keeps records and, before an officer goes to another department, they release everything to the next department, even if he or she resigns.

The bills that we worked on that had worldwide impact were the bills to ban female genital mutilation. I want to thank you, Margaret O'Brien, for all of your hard work on that. I'll tell you, my friends, we got real worldwide notice on that. They read about us in Europe. They read about us all over the place. We were taking a stand for women that this is never going to happen in Michigan again, a stronger stand than what the federal government had taken, and I appreciate all of your work. I was honored—I don't know why I was chosen—but I was asked to go over to Oxford University in London and lecture to a global group on how we did it when other states or countries haven't done it. This week, I was invited to go on Voice of America, the African division, and spoke about female genital mutilation. The world is watching us. They want to know how we accomplished this. I'm hoping that will be my career in 2019, helping other states, perhaps other countries, stop this horrible practice.

I also want to stop child marriage. I mean, it's just horrible in this state, that one parent—one parent—can sign and you can be married at age 14. You can't even sign a contract until you're 18. We've got it started. Margaret O'Brien and I got it started, and I know it's going to get picked up next year. Representative Graham Filler and Representative Sarah Anthony are already working on it.

I want to thank not only my staff, but I want to thank every member—every member—of my committee. I know you worked hard, sometimes I brought you in early, and we'll probably have another committee next week, but thank you because you worked so hard that the House had to create two committees to handle the workload. I'm proud of you and the work you put in. I want to thank Randy Richardville and Arlan Meekhof. Both of them were great leaders in the Senate, but sometimes Randy would get a little peeved at me. He had a strange rule that the chairman wasn't supposed to necessarily take up every bill assigned to his committee, so I got into a little trouble when I took up an Arlan Meekhof bill. His staff got angry at me but they got over it. I told Randy and I want to thank Arlan for his policy, that if you put a bill into my committee, that means I can run it. If I don't run it and you want to discharge it, that's fine. I'm fine with that, but please don't put any bills in my committee that you don't want me to run.

I'm very proud that I never, ever let anybody tell me how to vote—not Matty Moroun, not Joel Ferguson, not even Dick DeVos. I listen to the people in the 71st House District and the 24th Senate District.

Next week, I'm going to be putting up the Nativity and I understand the Satanic group is going to bring in a statue of a goat, but you know what, that's ok. I hope that the Nativity represents the light. If they want to represent the darkness, that's ok. I want to tell you this is not because I don't believe in diversity. I'm very happy to have other religious displays on the Capitol lawn. I loved it when Representative Callton put up a menorah, and I would welcome other religious displays. I think that's wonderful that we celebrate our diversity. I'm very proud to have invited, for the first time, a Hindu holy man and a Sikh holy man to open the Senate in prayer and I have become good friends with those two communities in my district. I've been to weddings, unfortunately a funeral, and I've really gotten to know them. In fact, the Sikh community had a conference here in Lansing, brought me in, put me on their TV—they asked for it, I didn't ask for it—and they explained to me that I was speaking to 25 million people around the world, and that was pretty good. It was pretty good. I told them how we welcome legal immigration here in Michigan because we need more workers and we need more young people studying in our schools to do great things. I told them they were welcome.

Finally, I want to close with that it's been 14 great years and I appreciate all of your help. Thank you.

Protests

Senators Bieda and Hood, under their constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18), protested against the approval of the gubernatorial appointments to office.

Senator Bieda's statement, in which Senator Hood concurred, is as follows:

I just rise for a "no" vote explanation on those two advise-and-consent nominations that were put forward.

I don't think any of us had a hearing and know who these people were. It's certainly nothing against them in person, but I do think that this body should have had some form of warning that this was coming up for a vote and have an opportunity to look at these people, even have a chance to talk with them before we cast this very important vote.

I hope they don't take my "no" vote personally because I haven't had the pleasure of meeting them, and I'm sure they're fine individuals, but as far as process, I have to vote "no" on both of these.
